Transforming Yentile

What do you want in a park?

Yentile committee planning final workshop

By JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor
Jayne@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - Dog park, splash pad, ice rink, athletic field? Organizers want to know what residents want in the new recreation space previously known as Yentile Farm. Residents have just two final opportunities to weigh in - with a new online survey starting next week and the final workshop in July. And yes, the town wants to hear from you.

Members of the Yentile Farm Development Committee, chaired by Selectman Judy O'Connell, met Tuesday night with Christine Scypinski from Waterfield Design Group, to discuss the next steps in a recreational facility at the Cross Street location.

Committee members seek feedback on the preferred concept plan developed following the first two public workshops held this spring. At town meeting earlier this month, the committee offered a paper survey based on the preferred design concept plan, but only received 27 responses, compared to the 1,000+ respondents from the initial online survey from 2012. The committee wants to see those high numbers again.

Cost

At an estimated $3-$6 million dollars for the whole project, the committee is also wrestling with whether or not to phase the project,

Above is the Preferred Concept Plan for the Yentile Farm Recreational Facility with certain features highlighted such as the dogpark, community gardens, playgrounds, and multi-use field. Brown lines indicate paths, either boardwalks through wetland areas, or walking/jogging paths. There is still time to weigh in your ideas with the committee through a new online survey on the Town of Wilmington website and the final workshop on July 23. A copy of this plan is available for more detailed viewing on the Town Crier website: www.HomeNewsHere.com. The Town Crier also has its own survey on the website.

Nally 2014's Good Guy

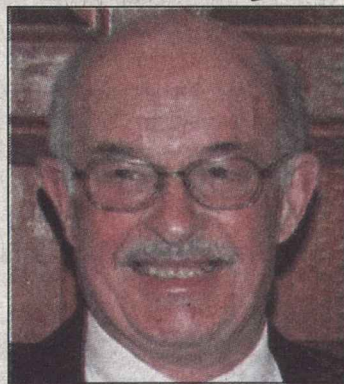

By MARK WADLAND
Special to the Town Crier

WILMINGTON - Retired Wilmington Police Chief Bernard "Bernie" Nally received the 46th Annual Good Guy Award on Friday, May 10 at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus for his hard work, passion, and dedication to his community.

Every year the "Good Guy" event honors a man or woman who goes to great lengths to make their community a better place in which to live. Previous Good Guys meet to read all the nominations submitted by residents and then they vote by secret ballot. However, the committee does not accept nominations for politicians, preferring to stay apolitical and focused on those not currently in office.

Hamilton talks to local business leaders

By BRUCE HILLIARD
Special to the Town Crier

WILMINGTON - Carole Hamilton, Director of Wilmington Planning and Conservation, met with Wilmington Chamber of Commerce members Tuesday morning at Panera Bread at Wilmington Plaza to update local business leaders about projects on the horizon.

Hamilton gave a general oversight talk on the functions and duties of the commission and hit on popular topics such as the new Target store being built at 206 Ballardvale Street on the Wilmington - Andover line. The facility offers 186,000 square foot retail space with an additional 14,000 square foot retail service space primarily for fast food and, of course, another "Dunkin Donuts".

Target is scheduled for completion in the fall of this year.

Other topics Hamilton addressed included the Murray Hill Subdivision, a 21.6-acre residential development designed to save existing stone walls and create walking paths for residents to enjoy some of the old and the new at the same time.

North Wilmington was brought up as a part of town that the planning board was looking at to "beautify." Area zoning in place also allows the expansion of commercial property aiming to bring in new business. The MBTA purchased a piece of property years ago near the train platform that would need to be worked around. The future may just look rosy for North Wilmington though no timelines were discussed.

There are several areas left to develop in Wilmington, Hamilton went on to say, including the Sciarappa Farm, and parcels on Marion Street and Chestnut Street.

Coming up June 10 is a public meeting regarding the Olin Chemical Superfund Site at Wilmington Middle School sponsored by the Wilmington Environmental Restoration Committee, EPA, and the Town of Wilmington. This is a must attend for all Wilmington residents as your health may depend on it. Community input will make a difference.

Peggy Smith and Ellie Sullivan congratulated Sandra Curtin on her retirement from WCTV during a celebration held on Tuesday afternoon. Curtin has been with WCTV since its inception and leaves behind a legacy of thoughtful community programming, careful management, and positive growth.

Sixty Years ago

Owner had no claim to his own cabin

By LARZ F. NEILSON
Editor Emeritus

If you were to ask anyone in Wilmington how to reach Virginia Road, the first answer would probably be a question: "Where?" The next answer would be, "You can't get there from here."

That's because Virginia Road is in an area known as "The Lost Colony," which has no road connection to Wilmington. Road directions would take you to Route 28 in North Reading, and then to the end of Burroughs Road.

A century ago, real estate developers bought up large tracts of land near country ponds and created subdivisions with hundreds of small lots. They then proceeded to sell these lots to people, mostly city folk wanting a place in the country.

In the Lost Colony, a man named Williams bought about 120 acres in Wilmington and North Reading. He proceeded to subdivide it, calling his development Williamshaven. He sold lots to many people, but few ever built a house there.

After Mr. Williams died, his widow, Esther, took over the project. And then she died.

As happened with some other real estate developments, many of the parcels were eventually taken for taxes. In the early 1950s, the town manager assigned Frank Walters, town assessor, to clear up the situation. Walters traced the owners and cleared all the titles through Land Court.

The Land Court decree was so written that people who had owned the land before 1936, and had paid taxes, had claim to the land. But people who had come into possession by deeds from Mrs. Williams after 1936 had no valid claims.

Walters made certain that everyone who had land registered in the development was notified of his rights.

Once the town received the decree, the Water Department took an interest in the land, wanting to protect the watershed above the Brown's Crossing pumping station. An article was introduced in the 1953 town meeting to turn the land over to the Water Department. The article described the land simply as "about 50 acres near Martin's Pond." It was approved.

In early May, 1954, Mr. Walters, who was then the acting town manager, received a visit from Charles J. Gregor of Somerville. He had purchased land from Mrs. Williams after 1936 and had then built a vacation cabin on the land. However, he had never received a deed. Therefore, no deed had ever been registered. He had never paid any taxes and had never taken out a building permit. Town officials didn't know the cabin existed.

Gregor said he wanted his cabin back. Walters said he didn't know what to do. Neither did the selectmen.

Hayward Bliss suggested that since the Water Department now owned the property, that the cabin be turned over to the superintendent, and that he be allowed to live there in lieu of part of his salary. Chairman Jim Lawler took that idea a step further, saying the offer should be extended to all Water Department employees.

With no deed and no taxes paid, Gregor's Lost Colony cabin was lost. His tax-free vacation was over.

There is no record of exactly what the town did with the cabin. A photo of it appeared in the Wilmington Crusader, with Water Supt. Eddie Sargent standing next to the door.

The name Charles Gregor does not appear in the 1956 assessors' listing. But then, it never had before.

Lord and Master

Eddie Sargent, Superintendent of the Water Department, has a right to lean on this building as though he owned it. It was built by a man who never registered his deed to the property, and on which no taxes were ever paid. Eventually it was taken by the town, and turned over to the Water Department, as part of a large parcel of land for watershed purposes. Charles J. Gregor, of Somerville, who built the place, may have it back if he pays back taxes and costs, which should have been paid. (Polaroid photo in a minute by Wilmington Crusader)

WHAT KIND OF COLLEGE SAVINGS PLAN?

Many savers have found the 529 savings plans ideal for their needs. The plans are tax-advantaged; any gains are tax-free when the money is used for education. And some states let account owners deduct some of their contributions from state taxes.

Another 529 option is a prepaid tuition plan that lets the saver buy future tuition at a fixed fee, sometimes at current prices. Plans should be chosen with care; some are better than others.

The biggest question is whether your child will attend one of the schools on the plan's list. Some plans are limited to public in-state schools; others cast a wider net. Check the health of the plan. Some of the plans are in better financial shape than others. A few plans let you lock in current tuition rates; some have penalties if the youngster does not attend a member school.

Another college savings note: even if a child did not get financial aid one year, it's wise to try every year.

Relay For Life just 4 weeks away

WILMINGTON - Teams are anxious to go and the fund raising is on for the Sixth Annual Relay For Life of Wilmington. The American Cancer Society sponsored event is not a race or athletic event, but the same energy and spirit of dedication is there as teams prepare for the June 20th overnight gathering and celebration.

The Relay for Life will be held at 5:30 PM Friday June 20 at the Wilmington Middle School. It's a family-fun event with food, entertainment, and activities. Teams of people camp out. Each team has a representative walking at all times during the event because cancer never sleeps. That's the core premise of the relay idea.

Music, costumes and decorations set the mood. After opening remarks, a special ceremony honors cancer survivors. Several other ceremonies take place as well.

The Wilmington community and participants from other near by towns are busy pulling together and counting down to the main event which is just four weeks away. Two teams have already reached recognized special medal status, The Unstoppable's (led by Joe Martiniello) and Ken's Friends and Family (led by Patricia Rauseo).

One way anyone can participate is to donate and "buy" a luminaria bag. Small white bags are decorated either by the person donating or by volunteers. Candles are set inside each one and then during the Relay event, they are lit in honor or memory to loved ones. The lighting ceremony sends a message of hope and remembrance. It is often describe as the most meaningful part of the evening. Bags can be dedicated on-line.

Relay is open to the public so whether you have a team or just want to come for the festivities, please join the fun. Visit www.wilmingtonrfl.com for more information or to make a donation and/or dedicate a luminaria.

Annual Bike Safety Rodeo event to be held on June 8

The Tewksbury Police Department, in conjunction with Tewksbury Rail Trails and local businesses, would like to announce its Annual Bike Safety Rodeo.

This bicycle safety event will be held Sunday, June 8th, 2014, from 10:00 AM - 1:00 PM. This year the rodeo will be held at Tewksbury Memorial High School, 320 Pleasant Street.

Bicycle safety is critically important and helmets are the law for riders ages 16 and younger. This is a free event open to all families.

The Rodeo will have a safety inspection station for bikes, helmet fittings, an obstacle course designed to teach bicycle safety, helmet decorating, local DJ Jaryd Palmer and more.

Each child who completes the bike safety course will be entered in a drawing for a chance to win donated prizes.

Involvement from the Tewksbury business community is welcomed as this is a high-visibility outreach event. Suggested opportunities include staffing the event, donating a bicycle or related equipment such as horns or reflectors, or donating items such as balloons, pizza or crafts.

Local businesses already participating include Walgreens, Enterprise Bank, AAA of Southern New England, Hannaford, Met Life, Merrimack Valley Pavilion, Lowell CIT, Lowell Spinners, and Lowell General Hospital.

PARCC tests for students, an issue for educators and raising caring children

"I am not afraid of tomorrow for I have seen yesterday and love today," said William Allen White. I love that quote as too often we find people who are always down with the world around them in terms of their mood. Recently this week, I was talking to a dad who took an opposite approach. Having lost his wife almost a decade ago, the father of three children is continuing the work of his wonderful wife with some of the days very dark, yet he maintains an atmosphere of "keeping going" as he sees his daughter heading soon to college.

This past weekend the young high school student was part of a major campaign to raise funds and an awareness of cancer, which gave her dad so much pride. Rather than letting her feelings carry her to a normal level of anger in the loss of her mom, she has turned any negative feelings to the positive side in working in the great efforts to knock down cancer. For this student's dad, he understands the reason his daughter is so active in fighting cancer and his pride is followed by a pleasant smile.

I could not but feel proud of this young lady who, while assisting to reduce the condition that caused the death of her mom, is giving strength to her dad through her great efforts in the never-ending battle to raise funds for cancer research.

Raising Caring Children

Raising a compassionate, moral child is the number one priority for all parents, according to Adam Grant of the Wharton School at the University of Penn. He lists several suggestions to parents in this regard.

First, he says praise is more effective than rewards. Second, he comments that for 8 year olders, praise character, not actions. Third, use nouns rather than verbs as it is better to encourage a child to be a "helper" than to use the "to help" phrase. Fourth, with bad behavior, evoke guilt, not shame. He adds, shame is the feeling that I am a bad person, whereas guilt is the feeling that I have done a bad thing. Fifth, with bad behavior, say you are disappointed, express why the behavior was wrong, how it affected others and how he or she can rectify the situation. Last and not least, model caring and generous behavior.

While I feel we often see some unrealistic concepts coming from the college philosophical side, Grant's suggestions, as listed above, make so much sense in a world that needs wisdom. None of us hits the mark on all of these that Grant suggests but from a personal side I feel modeling caring for others and being generous in thought and deed are huge factors in this process. Seeing is believing fits this issue on the mark. Our young people watch "very carefully" what we do."

PARCC Testing

Remember MCAS tests, well now you will learn and will be seeing PARCC tests up there in the testing lineup for our students in the weeks and months to come in pencil and paper format or completed using the technology of choice.

School leaders will be moving into the difficult world of finding the most appropriate method of reaching the testing goals, as set by the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. Some local administrators have already researched their best ideas on how to handle these testing issues while others are still trying to decide which form of testing is right for their district subject to available funds.

While testing of students in terms of their achievement seems to be moving towards gathering this data from students via technology, there are many that feel the measurement system would not be standard. For example, many students have access to computers 24-7 as they say with computers at home and in school, while others only see a computer in their schools. So, if a student is not skilled in computers and must take a test on one, are you measuring their computer knowledge or the topic questions of the subject being tested? There will be much more to come in the column on this issue in the weeks and months ahead.

MEMORIAL DAY - 2014

Scott
5-21-14

Memorial Day

by Scott Mullooney

I have a great memory. When I was in elementary school, my fourth grade class performed on stage in the Memorial Day assembly. We recited a poem that began "On Memorial Day in peaceful May, we honor the soldiers the Blue and the Gray...". Yes, that's a Civil War reference (and no, I didn't go to elementary school in the 1800's), but the line stuck with me all these years. There have been many wars since then, and America has lost a multitude of soldiers who fought in the name of freedom.

My father, William Mullooney, was a veteran of World War II. He survived the war, but he was also a casualty of it. He was underage at seventeen years old when he enlisted in the army, but in 1942, the country was desperate for bodies to help stop the horrors waged by the German and Japanese war machines.

He was sent to the South Pacific with his battalion to stem the tide of Japanese insurgence hellbent on controlling every country within their reach. My father told me stories of the war, the one's he could talk about. On a Philippine island, in a dense jungle, he spent twenty-four hours alone in a tree, locked in gun battle with a solitary Japanese sniper. So close they could look into each other's eyes and realize they were both there for the same reason and they really didn't want to shoot one another. Or the time he fell asleep on guard duty and his rifle accidentally discharged, causing a scar on his nose and loss of hearing in one ear. Luckily those were the extent of his war injuries. The physical ones, anyway.

He returned home from the war at age twenty-one, and the war came home with him. Some things could not be forgotten despite the victory celebrations and the happy-days-are-here-again mentality that ushered in a new golden age for the USA. I found out later in his life just how much he was affected by the war when I accompanied him to a doctor's appointment at the Veterans Hospital in Boston. He had some health issues and during his examination the doctor asked him about his sleep patterns at night. He replied, "Every night when my head hits the pillow, I relive the entire war, from the day I enlisted to the day I came home."

"Would you like to talk to someone about that?" asked the doctor.

"No. I'm fine with it," my father said.

But obviously he wasn't. That explained the random flashbacks and the heavy drinking. But nothing he did for the rest of his life could erase the memories. War does that to a person, it changes you fundamentally. And the scores of friends who didn't make it back remind you how "lucky" you are. Lucky to be alive even though you spend the rest of your life trying to forget.

Sadly, my father passed away in 2011. He's buried in the Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett in a section that doesn't allow headstones. He has a flat bronze marker with his name, date and an inscription that reads "World War II Veteran". The plaque doesn't do justice to the hero my father was. There wouldn't be a memorial large enough to contain his legacy. The way the calendar dates fell that year, his funeral was on Memorial Day. The twenty-one gun salute and the presentation of the flag at the ceremony completed the fitting tribute to this soldier who is now part of history. I think he would be proud to know he was laid to rest on Memorial Day in peaceful May on a day when we honor war heroes who made the ultimate sacrifice to keep our country free. Rest assured, Papa, you will never be forgotten.

College Bound? We Can Help.

By ALISON SCHWARTZ
Teen Services Librarian

Graduating seniors in the town of Wilmington all stand on the brink of a promising future. Along with the excitement of starting college, you may also be consumed with questions. Will the coursework be more challenging than high school? Will you and your roommate get along? What if you decide to change majors? We have excellent resources at the public library to help you in this time of transition.

Whether you will be a commuter or plan to stay on campus, your concerns about all the changes about to occur can seem overwhelming. The College/Careers section in the Teen Zone includes a variety of helpful titles. Been There, Should've Done That: 995 Tips for Making the Most of College by Suzette Tyler uses first-person anecdotes from college students all over the country who talk about their college experience. The humorously-titled The Naked Roommate: and 107 Other Issues You Might Run Into in College by Harlan Cohen offers expert and student advice about "everything that really matters in college" and has been deemed The #1 Going-to-College Book. Other titles which address this life-altering shift are The Ultimate Guide to Surviving and Thriving in the Dorm by Julia Devillers and The Freshman Survival Guide by Norma Bradbury-Haehl and Bill McGarvey. We also have books about achieving academic success and choosing your major. What Color is Your Parachute? For Teens stems from the adult series geared toward discovering your dream job. Undecided by Genevieve Morgan is geared toward those who plan to enlist in the military or attend a trade school. There are also selections focusing on specific industries and how to break into them.

Finally, take time this summer for chilling out and reading a good book that you want to read, not one that has been assigned to you! Best of luck to all Wilmington graduates!

Safety Advisory

Don't leave kids in the hotseat

High temperatures this summer can lead to avoidable tragedies

BY SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
News Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

"I'll just run into the store for a minute."

Even the most conscientious parents and caregivers may leave a child in the car to run a quick errand.

Sometimes it seems too inconvenient to remove a sleeping child from a car seat or maybe it's quicker to enter a store without a diaper bag and a young child in tow.

For the child however this could be a dangerous, even fatal, decision.

On an 80-degree day, the temperature inside a car can become deadly within 10 minutes, even with the window rolled down, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA.)

"Children's bodies in particular overheat easily, and infants and children under four years old are at the greatest risk for heat-related illness."

One such heat-related illness is heat stroke, or hyperthermia, which occurs when the body's temperature rises above 104 degrees Fahrenheit.

To reduce fatalities during warmer months Tewksbury Police, in conjunction with the NHTSA, are raising awareness about the dangers of child heatstroke in hot cars.

Between 1998 and 2013 there were more than 600 heat stroke deaths as a result of children left in hot cars. In half of those deaths, the victim was under the age of 2. The oldest child was 14. This year so far, there have been four heat stroke deaths as reported by the Department of Earth and Climate Sciences at San Francisco State University.

The last fatality in Massachusetts occurred nearby in Lowell in late August 2012, when a 9-month-old infant was left inside a vehicle accidentally.

The interior temperature of a car rises quickly because the sun's rays penetrate the windows, heating objects it touches, such as the steering wheel, dashboard, and child seat.

These objects then heat the air trapped inside a vehicle.

Health experts say children should never be left unattended in a car, even if the windows are partially open.

"There is no safe amount of time to leave children alone in the car," says University of Chicago ER doctor Nathan Allen. "Kids are more susceptible and at higher risk for heat-related illness and injury than adults because their bodies make more heat relative to their size and their abilities to cool through sweating are not as developed as adults."

Don't be on the wrong end of a medical call this summer. Don't leave children, or pets, in a car as high temperatures can quickly escalate in a vehicle, even one with the windows cracked open. If you see an unattended child in a closed car, call emergency services - don't hope that someone else will call.

Tewksbury Fire Chief Michael Hazel agrees, it is not good practice to leave kids, adults or pets unattended in the car - at any time of the year.

"Sometimes people run into a store for an errand, thinking they can leave the window cracked, but they can get sidetracked and it can have ill-effects," he said. "If you see an unattended child in a closed car, call your local emergency services to come check it out. With pets, it's a good idea to call if the pet seems to be stressed in any way."

"If the child is crying or sweaty, try to gain access to get the child out of the car," said Wilmington Deputy Fire Chief Rick McClellan. "Check on anyone in the car so you're not just walking away, hoping someone else is going to call. Don't assume that person (who left the child in the vehicle) will be right back. You don't know how long the child has been inside the car. Call the fire department or the police if you feel a child is in imminent danger or seems to be in distress."

When transporting children, make a habit of checking the back seat before exiting the car. It is easy to forget a sleeping infant in rear-facing car seat. Leave a purse or other necessary item in the backseat as another reminder. For additional tips, see the sidebar column.

Tips to halt heatstroke

BY SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
News Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

Tewksbury Police Chief Timothy Sheehan shared important tips with the community this week relating to the prevention of heat stroke. Below are risks, consequences, and prevention tips from Parents Central (safecargov) on how to keep children safe and reduce summer tragedies.

where's baby?
Look before you lock.

Risks

- In 10 minutes, a car can heat up 20 degrees Fahrenheit.
- Cracking a window does little to keep the car cool.
- With temperatures in the 60s, your car can heat up to well above 110 degrees.
- A child's body temperature can rise up to five times faster than an adult's body temperature.
- A child dies when his/her temperature reaches 107.
- Heat stroke can happen when the temperature is as low as 57 degrees outside!

Consequences

- Misdemeanor with fines as high as $500 — and even imprisonment — in some states.
- Felony, depending on the state, if bodily harm results from leaving kids alone in a hot car
- Note: The age of children who can be left unattended in a vehicle varies from state to state, as does the duration of time a child can be left alone in a car.

Prevention Tips to Avoid Heatstroke

- Never leave a child alone in a car.
- Don't let your kids play in an unattended vehicle. Teach them that a vehicle is not a play area.
- Never leave infants or children in a parked vehicle, even if the windows are partially open.
- Keep a large teddy bear or other stuffed animal in the car seat when it's empty. Move the teddy bear to the front seat when you place the child in the seat as a visual reminder.
- If you are dropping your children off at childcare, but normally your spouse or partner drops them off, have your spouse or partner call you to make sure they were not left in the car.
- Become vigilant about looking in the vehicle before locking the door. Always look front and back before walking away — always!

Tewksbury Police Team up with BPAC during National Bike Month

Teaming up to save lives

TEWKSBURY - The Town of Tewksbury Bicycle and Pedestrian Advisory Committee (BPAC) and the Tewksbury Police Department are teaming up during National Bike Month (the month of May) to distribute free night time safety gear to riders in need.

Tewksbury Police Officers will be stopping night time bike riders operating in violation of the statute and will be distributing the free night time safety gear.

The Police Department's mission will be to increase awareness and improve bike safety.

"In darkness, an unlit bicycle is often invisible until the last second," said Brian Ristuccia, BPAC Chairman. "It can make for a close call, not just for the person riding, but also for pedestrians and motor traffic they're sharing the road with. Bike lights are visible from hundreds of feet away, allowing everyone more time to make safe decisions."

Both the Police Department and BPAC would like to reinforce that lights are basic bicycle safety equipment, and required even for infrequent or short trips at night.

Massachusetts law requires bicyclists to use a white front light and red rear light or reflector from 30 minutes after sunset to 30 minutes before sunrise (Chapter 85/11B).

Nearly half of all cycling deaths nationally involve cyclists riding at night without lights, even though only 3% of biking occurs after dark.

Materials for this program were funded by The Town of Tewksbury Bicycle and Pedestrian Advisory Committee (BPAC), through a grant from the Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (MAPC). For more information on the program, contact Officer Jennie Welsh (978)851-7373, EXT 230 or Brian Ristuccia, BPAC Chairman (888) 235-6932.

Shawsheen Valley Technical High School news

Eight advance to SkillsUSA nationals

BILLERICA - Shawsheen Valley Technical High School will be sending eight students to the SkillsUSA national finals in Kansas City in June.

At the recent state finals, more than 80 Shawsheen competitors vied for a spot at nationals. Amazingly, 77 of those students from Shawsheen finished in the top 10 of their respective categories.

"I was very impressed with the way the students did,"

said Heidi Lloyd, Shawsheen's advisor for SkillsUSA. "It was unbelievable."

The school totaled 29 medals, eight gold, 11 silver and 10 bronze.

"These are 15, 16 and 17-year-old students," Lloyd said. "That's pretty substantial when you think about it."

Three Billerica residents, three Tewksbury residents along with a Bedford and Wilmington resident will represent Shawsheen at nationals after first-place performances at the state finals.

Shawsheen's Team Works group of senior carpentry student Scott Browne of Tewksbury, senior electrician Dylan King of Billerica, senior plumber Nickolas Hoar of Billerica and junior masonry student Andrew Langone of Tewksbury finished first.

Junior Lauren Liscio of Wilmington will represent Shawsheen as a state officer. Liscio earned the spot after being elected at the state event. Next year, Liscio will play a key role in organizing the SkillsUSA competitions and also has the privilege of attending a leadership conference in Washington.

"She's going to do a great job," Lloyd said.

Other gold-medal winners included senior Bryant Bonaiuto of Tewksbury in medical assisting, junior Jeannette Lavine of Bedford in medical math and sophomore Alex Hamilton of Billerica, who was the pin design winner.

Bringing home silver medals for Shawsheen was senior Joseph Maguire of Burlington in diesel equipment technology, senior T.J. Barriss of Bedford in plumbing, junior Taylor McNeil of Tewksbury in medical assisting, junior Jasmyr Mirabel of Tewksbury in medical math, junior Skylar Mulvey of Tewksbury in action skills, senior Jason Mahoney of Billerica in HVAC & Refrigeration, senior Bethany Scott of Tewksbury in the category of health occupation professional portfolio and the entrepreneurship quartet of business technology students and Billerica residents Charles Foster (senior), Ryan Cormier (senior), Michael Quinones (junior) and Olivier Duprez (junior).

Adding third-place performances and earning bronze were senior Nicole Woodward of Billerica in prepared speech, senior James Gibb of Wilmington in masonry, junior Kaitlyn O'Shea of Billerica in employment skills application, freshman Siobhan Reidy of Wilmington in career choice commentary, senior Adam Rovinelli of Burlington and senior Michael Pelosi of Wilmington in mechatronics and the Health Knowledge Bowl team of junior Skylar Jacques of Tewksbury and sophomores Kaitlyn Fraser, Katlyn Vocell and Nicolas Troisi, all of Billerica.

Tips from the Better Business Bureau

Watch out for Memorial Day Scams

Marlborough, MA - Memorial Day is a time to honor those who serve and remember those who have. Unfortunately, it has also become an opportunity for scammers to target those who are serving or have served their nation, especially elderly veterans. As Memorial Day approaches, your Better Business Bureau urges consumers and donors to be aware of scammers that feed off the military.

BBB Military Line, the military arm of the Better Business Bureau, provides free resources, such as financial literacy information, access to BBB services and scam alerts, and complaint and dispute resolution for all branches of the U.S. military. BBB warns of the following scams that are directed at service members:

High Priced Military Loans -

Advertisements for loans that promise a guarantee, instant approval or no credit check will often come with hidden fees and extremely high interest rates. Remember that legitimate lenders will never guarantee a loan before you apply and loans that require an upfront fee are likely a scam.

Veterans' Benefits Buyout Plans -

This buyout plan will offer a cash payment in exchange for a disabled veteran's future benefits or pension payments. The cash amount is only about 30-40 percent of what the veteran is entitled to. These buyout plans can be structured in several different ways, so research thoroughly before signing anything over.

Fake Rental Properties -

Stolen photos of legitimate rental properties are used in advertisements that promise military discounts and other incentives. Service members will have to pay a fee via wire transfer for security payments or a key to the property - in the end they will receive nothing.

Phony Jury Duty Summons -

A caller claims to work for the local court system and states that the service member did not show up for jury duty and now has a warrant out for their arrest. When the victim says they never got a summons, the caller will ask for a credit card number or Social Security number to clear up the matter.

Misleading Car Sales -

Websites posting classified ads will offer false discounts for military personnel or claim to be from soldiers who need to sell their vehicle fast since they have been deployed. Upfront fees will be required via wire transfer, or the vehicle will have problems after purchase.

Expensive Life Insurance Policies -

Members of the military are often the targets of high pressured sales tactics that offer unnecessary, expensive life insurance policies.

Solicitors may make false statements regarding the benefits that these policies offer. BBB recommends the following tips to avoid scams:

•Do your research. Get as much information as you can about a business or charity before you pay. Check out a business' BBB Business Review at bbb.org.

•Don't wire transfer money to anyone you don't know. Money sent via wire transfer is practically impossible to track. Pay by credit card whenever possible, since you can dispute charges easily.

•Protect your computer. Don't click on links within unsolicited emails. Don't enter personal information on unfamiliar websites. Make sure that you have updated anti-virus software installed and use a firewall at all times.

•Put an Active Duty alert on your credit reports when deployed. Doing so will minimize the risk of identity theft because creditors and businesses cannot issue or grant credit until verifying identity.

For more information you can trust, visit bbb.org/boston.

Grant awarded to Wilmington High School

Grant will fund lifesaving training

WILMINGTON - A grant awarded to Wilmington High School will help fund needed lifesaving training and equipment.

Wilmington High School is the recipient of a Mini-Grant in the amount of $5,000. Funding will support the Heart Safe Community Project. The goal of the Heart Safe Community Project is to strengthen the chain of survival during sudden cardiac arrest. It is a collaborative project in the Town of Wilmington and consists of the following implementation strategies:

- Training for high school teachers in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), Automated External

- Defibrillator (AED), and First Aid.

- CPR and AED training for Wilmington Community Employees & Citizens

- Submission of Heart Safe Community Application.

The Heart Safe Community Project is a collaborative effort of Wilmington High School, Wilmington Board of Health, and the Wilmington Police Department.

Wilmington High School Student Kaitlyn Cowden said, "Taking CPR in health class will be helpful to me because I volunteer and work with young children in the community. I'll feel more confident being around them and certified in CPR."

Wilmington Nurse Leader Doreen Crowe added, "High

School grade 10 students benefited the most from the Heart Safe Community project. The most important lesson they have learned in becoming CPR certified is the importance of giving back to the community and becoming an active participant in the Chain of Survival."

Wilmington High School Health Teacher Lois Nardo offered, "I'm very happy that my students know CPR and could potentially help someone in the future."

This project was funded through the Northwest Suburban Health Alliance/CHNA 15 DoN funds from Lahey Clinic, Winchester Hospital and Mount Auburn Hospital

Wilmington Good Guy Bernie Nally receiving congratulations from the Wilmington Masonic Friendship Lodge representatives George Ross and Brian King.

Bernie Nally named 2014's Good Guy

Nally said that one of his daughters nominated him for the award, and, since the committee only notifies the recipient's family and not the actual recipient, he had no idea he won the award when he arrived at the Knights of Columbus building. The surprise is one of the best parts of the evening, for the recipient and guests.

Steven Bjork, the winner of last year's Good Guy Award, said his favorite part of the ceremony was, "Watching the surprise on his face when he walked in the door. The goal is to make it a surprise. He was blown away."

As a member of the Board of Trustees for the Methodist Church in Wilmington, Bernie performs work needed outside of the church, such as mowing and shoveling. He also works with the Hospital Equipment Loan Program, which provides handicapped equipment for those who need it, such as wheelchairs, ramps and hospital beds. He served on the Wilmington Police Department for 36 years.

Bernie also provides free furniture to those who need it, and drives around local towns weekly to pick up furniture for people.

Aside from that, Bernie and others help oversee mental health counseling for families as part of the Board of Directors for Wilmington Family Health Counseling.

As a member of the Town Finance Committee, Nally reviews budgets for the town and helps the town manager with finances.

Several prominent members of the community spoke on Bernie's behalf at the combination dinner roast and ceremony, including former Town Manager Mike Cairn, Town Manager Jeff Hull, 1992 Good Guy winner and member of the Good Guy Committee Bob DiPalma and George Ross, a member of the Friendship Masonic Lodge.

"It was a well-deserved honor from a guy who doesn't look to be honored in any sort of fashion," said Pat Nally, Bernie's son, and a Wilmington Police Detective.

Bjork, who also spoke about Bernie at the ceremony, said, "It was wonderful to talk about Bernie. He's very, very well deserving of this award. He's been working tirelessly for the community for many years. He embodies the spirit of the award."

He jokingly added, "Every once in a while, the committee gets it wrong, like they did last year."

Bernie said his children bought him a lawn tractor, but joked that he "wouldn't do it because I'm too cheap."

Among his family members who attended were his children Pat, David, Cindy, Heather, and Deanna Nally, as well as all of their significant others and Bernie's grandchildren.

Bjork said, "It was another great success. Everybody had a wonderful time. Bernie's family enjoyed seeing the town recognize Bernie."

Of the Good Guy Award Pat said that it's, "just another thing that makes Wilmington a great place to live."

funding strategies for the project, and which elements will be included in the final project.

Environment

Additionally, the group reviewed wetlands and soils impacts following test pits and studies of the parcel. The Army Corp of Engineers and MASS Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) are planning a meeting to iron out wetlands replication concerns both agencies have before that portion of the project moves forward. Key members of the committee and town employees will attend that meeting once scheduled.

Process

The committee decided Tuesday to issue a new survey with the hope that all residents will provide input on what they want to see in the final design of the facility. That survey will start online next week. The committee will collect responses through June, and then hold a final workshop to solicit public input on July 23, before taking the project into the schematic design phase.

Once the project hits the schematic design, exact elements, aesthetics, and costs will emerge. The Committee will also start working on fundraising for the capital investments to bring in those costs. Starting with applying for grants, officials will also do an internal review to determine funding as a capital cost through the annual budget and/or a borrowing, and begin approaching corporations and other key stakeholders in town.

They also plan to individually invite community leaders from organizations across the spectrum to attend the workshop, such as youth sports teams, the Sons of Italy, the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, local churches, and so on.

Naming

With the Town Meeting survey, the name 'Sean Collier Park' was the overwhelming choice, with Wilmington Woods second, but the sample was (27) was too small to draw conclusions. Following discussion Tuesday, the committee decided to hold off on identifying a name for the new park. Town Meeting, ultimately, will have to approve the final name.

Facilities

This recreational complex is much more than a park. The concept plan design includes a variety of elements aimed at different ages and populations. Community gardens, running and jogging loops, boardwalks, an artificial turf multi-use field with lighting, an event lawn sloped for amphitheatre/stage at pavilion (image Wildcat Band Concerts), shaded lawn picnic areas with tables and grills, play elements on each end of picnic areas, climbing rocks and more. The playground plans currently include a zip line, 6-seat swing, mobius-type climber, slope slide, and tot age elements.

For skating enthusiasts, a full season space will accommodate basketball, a splash pad, painted games (hopscotch, 4 square, etc), small kids ball throw, tricycle area, paved event area for spring, summer, and fall, and transform into an ice skating and ice hockey rink in the winter.

A building is also planned for the park with a small concession area/window, two unisex restrooms, a storage area large enough for goals and equipment.

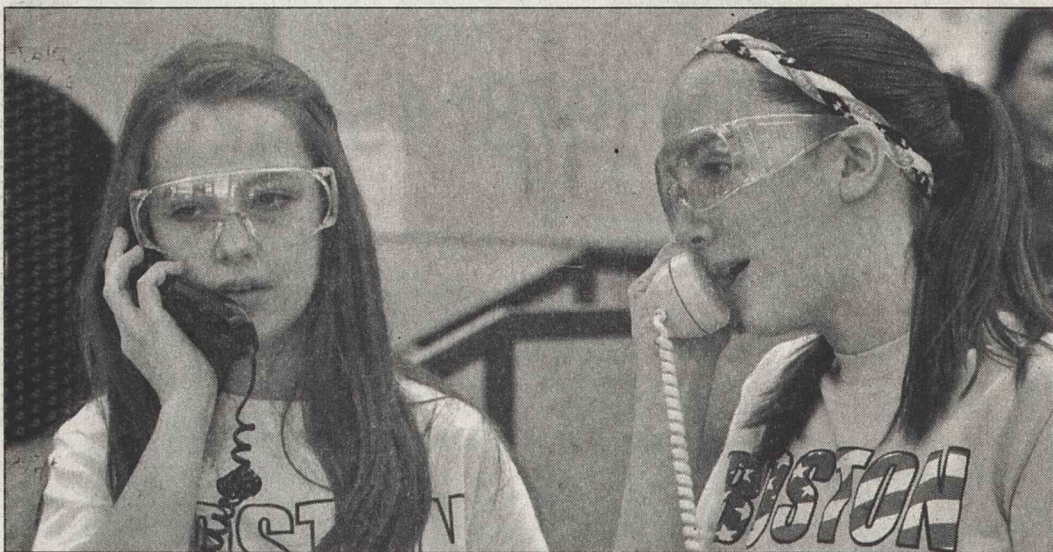

For our four legged friends, the park even has a dog park, offering small and large dog areas, a storage shed, stone dust and lawn areas with picnic tables, landscaped edges, shade trees with benches.

Gardening enthusiasts will love the community gardens with spaces set aside for native plants, butterfly-perennials, wildflower meadow, rain gardens, and food gardens. An exercise area is also planned, for the space around the playground, and a smart drop-off area will make it easier for parents to drop off kids away from moving cars in the lot.

One of the most compelling, and pricey, elements is the multi-use field. Organizers haven't decided whether or not to go with the more expensive artificial turf over natural grass, but the synthetic surface ensures a longer life and more hours of playability.

Ultimately the committee seeks a plan offering something for everyone of every age, every interest. The final budget plan will wait until external funding sources are identified, the town budget scoured, and feedback from the community is completed in July.

iPods for Wounded Veterans

Walter Reed, they saw about eighty disabled veterans. Between Walter Reed and Ft. Belvoir, representatives from iPods for Wounded Veterans (IPWV) saw about 147 people, an increase from the last visit.

Regan said that media outlets often note that military operations are winding down abroad, but it's not entirely true.

"We're not seeing it in the folks we encounter," he said, acknowledging the increase in soldiers seeking care at Walter Reed and Ft. Belvoir. "In between all that, you don't know how many people are coming and going through there."

"In a matter of speaking, maybe things are winding down, but, from our perspective, we can't really say that," he added.

And they're certainly getting noticed.

Paul Cardello, their founder, said that "it's become personal for these guys now," referring to high-ranking officers and others who have become aware of the Wilmington-based organization.

"It's the brain injury guys that have affected these new guys," he said, and helped high ranking officers recognize the work of IPWV.

Both Cardello and Regan discussed how, during their most recent trip, John Parker, their Veterans' Liaison Officer, met with members of the 1st Cavalry and told them about iPods for Wounded Veterans. They were so moved by Parker's presentation that they made a donation.

"We put a lot of smiles on a lot of faces," Cardello said.

"We're doing our part," he added. "We're making a difference. There's no doubt in my mind that we are."

The iPods for Wounded Veterans group also runs the Dear Soldier Campaign, which has students write letters to soldiers, thanking them for their service.

But this, Regan said, will taper off during the summer, because the schools are on vacation.

According to Cardello, students in Wilmington and Tewksbury have penned around 2,000 letters.

Regan and Cardello said that the organization is going to be involved with the Bunker Hill Parade in Charlestown. And they're going to be hosting a three-day book fair at Barnes and Noble in Burlington this weekend. Purchases can also be made online.

"A portion of the proceeds will be donated back to us and will enable us to buy Nooks and e-readers," Regan said.

The West Point Society of New England recently named iPods for Wounded Veterans their charity of the year.

Eli Jennings, Steve Layon and Kaitlyn Cowden take league titles

Three's a crowd in the Middlesex League

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Jamiepote@hotmail.com
WALTHAM -- Three Wilmington High School track members enjoyed their fantastic performances on Tuesday at the Middlesex League Championship Meet bringing home lots of hardware.

Seniors Eli Jennings and Kaitlyn Cowden both won two events, the same shot put and discus, while junior Steve Layon captured his first league title coming in the javelin.

STEVE LAYON

A year ago, Steve Layon really didn't know where he stood with the Wilmington High School Boys Track team. He was a sprinter with the JV Team, and according to him wasn't very good at it. The team was looking for a few kids to fill out the line-up card in the javelin and Layon gave it a try. The rest is history.

On Tuesday afternoon, Layon was the No. 4 seed heading into the Middlesex League Championship (Varsity) Meet and came away as the winner, throwing a personal best of 148-1. "The JV team needed a thrower and they were trying to fill out a spot," he said. "I figured why not? I wasn't very good at running and I had already liked doing the shot put so I figured to give javelin a shot. Running the 100 meters just wasn't my thing."

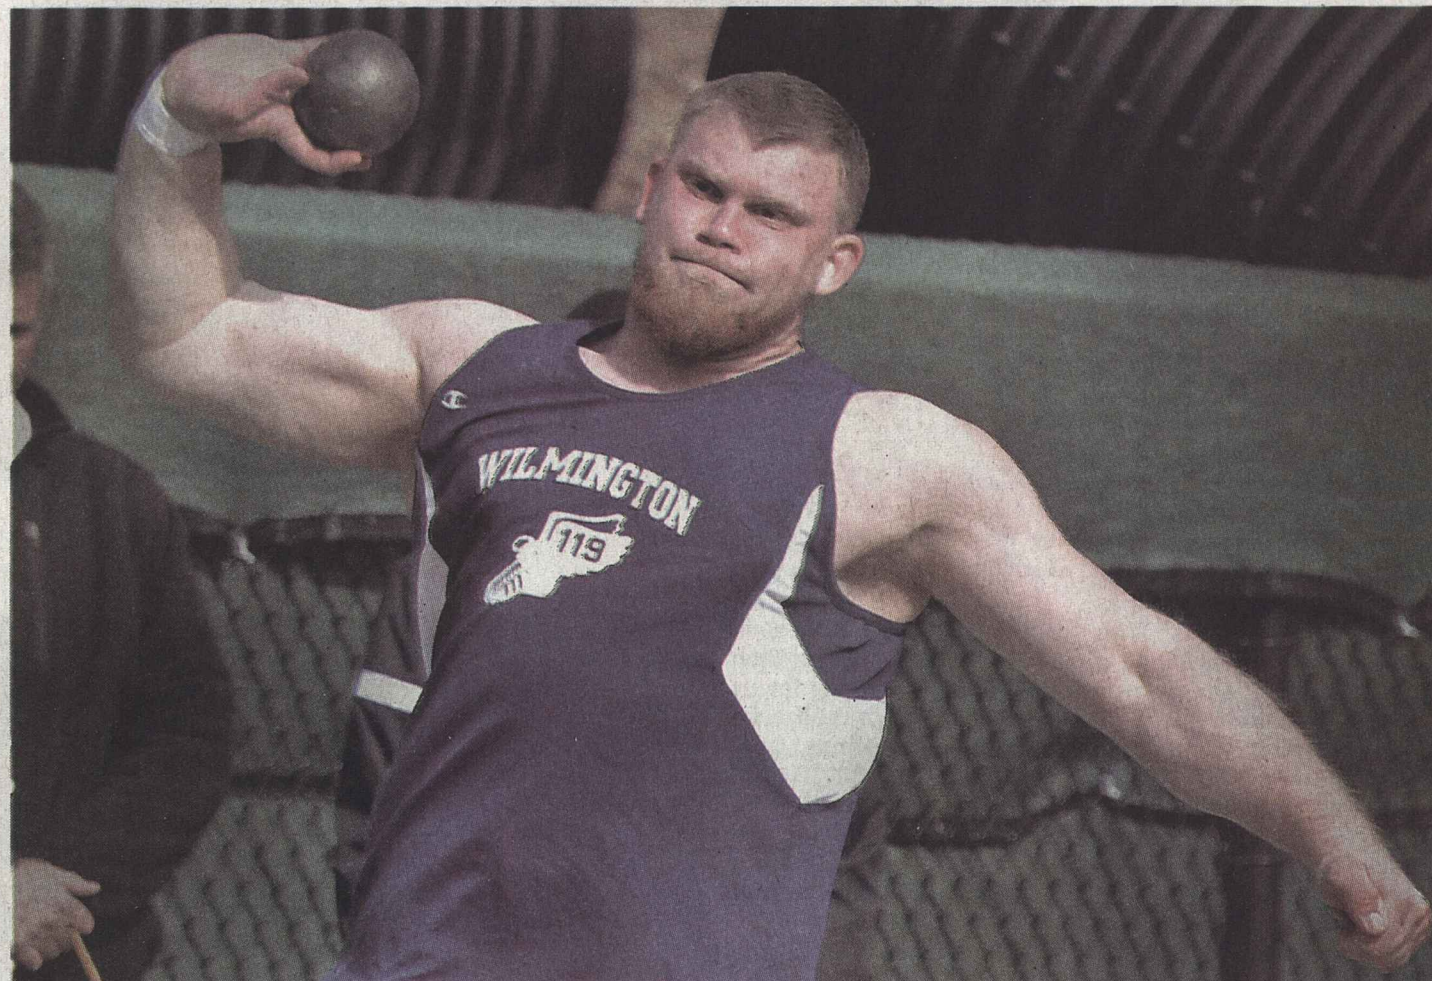

But throwing the javelin seems to be his thing.

Layon added that besides the extra practice and experience, that his coaches Mike Kinney and Rick Barry have really helped him, especially with his last crossover step which seemed to really have made a difference.

"I wasn't planting so I wasn't getting everything into my throws," he said. "It was really my last step. Once they corrected it, it became pretty simple and slowly I learned what to do and I guess it's paid off as I threw ten feet further today than I have before."

When Layon volunteered last year during the JV season, he went on to take the title in the javelin at the league's JV Open Meet. That seemed to have given the kid some confidence.

"Coming into the season I had high expectations for myself," he said. "I never thought I would be where I am today as a league champ, especially since I was seeded fourth going into it, but all I wanted to do was finish in the top three. Then when I won it was like 'oh wow' and it was so surprising. When they called me the champ, it was a special feeling for sure."

Not only has Layon improved leaps and bounds over the course of a calendar year, but he's done it by performing better when it counts.

"Steve has done well and has been undefeated in the league throughout the year," said Kinney. "But everytime he throws, he always throws a foot further on his final throw. He just really performs well under pressure. He's just really clutch - he threw one foot further today on his final throw which was two feet better than every-one else."

Layon laughed when he was asked about that.

"My first two throws today were kind of crappy," he said. "My third throw was the 148-1 and that's what got me into the finals. I guess I was feeling the pressure and it was pretty frustrating after those two crappy throws. I just had to take a deep breathe, relax for a minute and calm down. Then I just tried to stay calm and just throw, and I did that (to get the 148-1). So yeah I guess I'm clutch."

ELI JENNINGS

"Eli is throwing really well and no one in the league can touch him," said Kinney.

That came after Jennings won his fourth and fifth Middlesex League Championship titles between discus and shot put over winter and spring track.

On Tuesday he won both events taking the shot put (50-6) and discus (162-2) which was good enough for 20 of the team's 67 total points on the day.

"It's nice to see Eli score twenty points with his two first place finishes," said Kinney. "It's been a culmination of four years of hard work."

Jennings admitted that ever since the season started he has had his sights on breaking the school record in the discus which has stood for several decades, but the pressure of surpassing Steve Winchell's mark has been eating at him.

"Right now I'm not disappointed that I didn't get it," he said, about coming just eight inches off the mark. "If it was my last meet I definitely would be disappointed but I still have the state meet and then hopefully the all-states and New England's after that so I still have a few more chances. But I think the pressure of breaking the record was getting to me.

"Plus today the UMass-Lowell coach was watching a bunch of us, so that added more stress."

Yet despite the obstacles, knowing the record was within reach, the college coach was there and he was ranked first in both events, Jennings seemed to have been able to enjoy winning two more league titles.

"Winning today means a lot to me, especially the discus," he said. "Being able to get closer to a long record at Wilmington High School means a lot. I was able to get personal bests in both events and that's just the greatest feeling. That's what you aim for the entire season - getting better. So I'm getting closer to the record, so it means a lot just getting closer."

KAITLYN COWDEN

A few weeks ago the Town Crier featured Wilmington High senior Kaitlyn Cowden after she was named the her that I couldn't watch and I didn't want to know."

But she did want to know that she was crowned the discus champion and the best thrower in the entire Middlesex League Conference.

Instead of celebrating that title, she couldn't - she had to literally run over to the shot put station to compete in that event.

"I had to go right over without any time in-between," she said. "They had already gone through the first two flights so I had to do my three throws on my own. I had two warm-up throws and then three by myself. I just had to jump right in and that was pretty stressful. When I had gone over, the official said that everyone was waiting for me. It was pretty stressful but by then I just felt like I was in a zone."

So after throwing the discus three feet further than her previous best, she did the same in the shot put throwing well over a foot better than her previous best.

"Kaitlyn had some great throws today in both events," said Karow. "The best part is she is throwing her best at the time of the season that you want to be throwing your best. Not only is she getting better distances, but she can identify the things she is still doing wrong and fixes them and tries to improve."

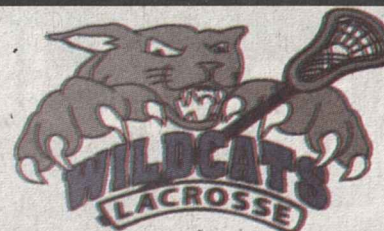

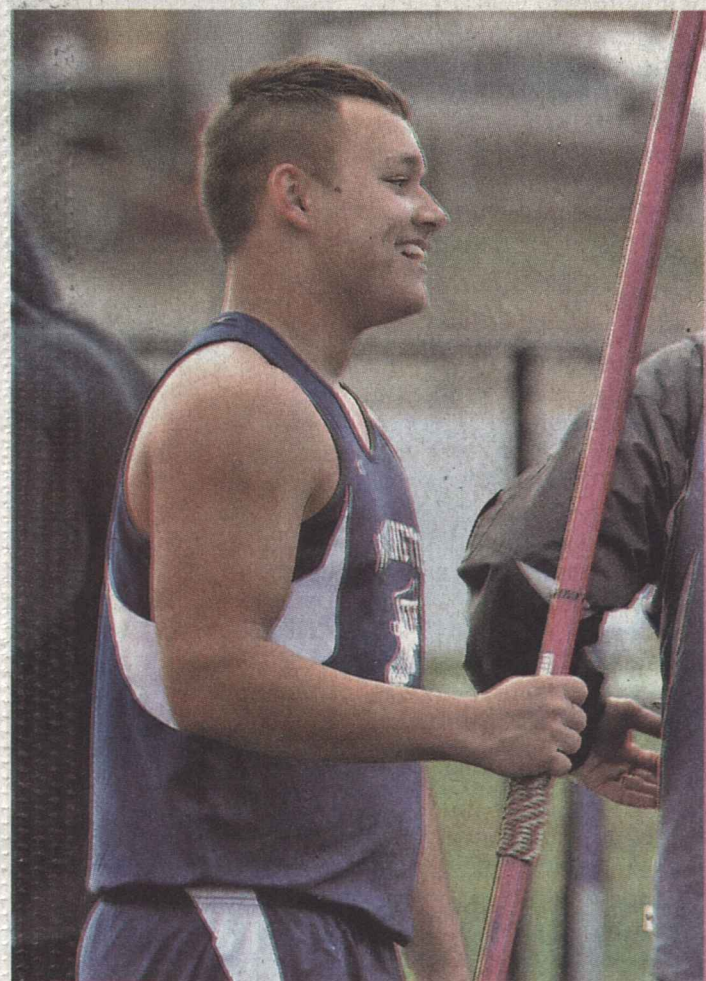

"She's super excited about her performance today and we're all super excited for her. The shot put throw came out of nowhere, but we all knew that she had it in her. It was just a matter of putting it all together and she did."

With two individual league titles, Cowden said it was hard to take the day away.

"This is absolutely my best (day in my sports career)," she said. "I had a personal record in both events, and I won two league events during my senior year so it's just great to win. I've been on Cloud Nine all night."

Cowden added that once she comes off of "Cloud Nine" it will be back to what she always does - practice. But with senior week and graduation and all of that, she said she won't be distracted as she gets ready for the state meet a week from Saturday.

"There's always time for practice and you always have to make time for practice," she said. "It's all about hard work and will at this point. I know I'm going to practice hard leading up to the state meet. I know I can't slack off and I just want to finish the season strong."

Nick Boutoures ends great career at UMass-Lowell

A big relief for this future lawyer

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Sports@yourtowncrier.com
LOWELL — Some day in the not too distant future Nick Boutoures will be practicing law in some capacity. The Wilmington native and recent UMass Lowell graduate hasn't finalized what his specialty will be when he earns his law degree from Suffolk University where he was recently accepted, but he will likely practice business law or perhaps even become a sports agent.

Whatever he decides however, you can bet he will be successful, and if his athletic career is any indication, he will have the versatility to perform well in a variety of roles.

The 2010 graduate of Wilmington High, who starred and captained for Wildcats in both baseball and golf during his high school career, certainly showed that versatility when he moved on to UMass-Lowell where he recently wrapped a tremendous senior baseball season.

A starting pitcher throughout his brilliant high school career with the Wildcats, where he was named team MVP in his senior season, Boutoures was moved to the bullpen when he arrived at UMass-Lowell.

After contributing to the team in each of his first three seasons in his new role, Boutoures took his game to an even higher level this season, leading the team in saves with four and in ERA with a mark of 1.72, striking out 14 batters in 15.2 innings while opponents batted just .175 against him.

Boutoures credits the River Hawks coaching staff for his incredible season.

"This year we got a new pitching coach (Brendan Monaghan) and he had a lot to do with me doing so well," Boutoures said. "He worked individually with each and every one of us. He played at St. John's and spent some time in the minor leagues, so he really knows his stuff and he changed the way I approach the game and pitching in general."

One of the things Boutoures had to change in his approach to the game when he arrived at UMass-Lowell, was how to come out of the bullpen for the River Hawks. After a career as a starter in high school, it might have been difficult for many pitchers to make the transition, but it was one that Boutoures quickly embraced.

"At first it was kind of difficult because I had been used to starting and knowing what day I would be pitching instead of it possibly being any day," Boutoures said. "But it became kind of fun. I liked coming into different situations, with men on base and trying to get out of inning. I got used to the role and really liked it and I especially enjoyed it this year."

Making Boutoures' incredible season this year all the more impressive was the fact that it came in the River Hawks first season as a Division 1 program. With the competition level at a higher level than ever before, Boutoures performed better than ever before.

"It was definitely a big change. We were facing much better competition, like Virginia Tech and Cincinnati in a tournament right at the start of the season, and we saw some really good players and some really good hitters," Boutoures said. "A lot of people did not think we would do as well as we did, but our coaches kept us focused and kept us working hard. Our word of the year was 'relentless' and they did a good job of keeping us on target all year long."

Indeed it seemed to have worked for the River Hawks, who finished the season with a very respectable 20-22 record in their first season in Division 1, including a 10-10 mark in America East.

"I think when the schedule came out, it was like, wow, Virginia Tech, but once we got into the season we just treated it like any other game," Boutoures said. "I think getting off to a good start (3-1 in Virginia Tech Tournament) was big for us and we started to realize we could do something special."

River Hawks coach Ken Harring says that Boutoures was a big part of his team being able to adjust so well to the Division 1 level.

"We had said from the start that we would not be intimidated by anybody and Nick and everybody really bought into that," Harring said. "With Nick being a senior he helped that quite a bit."

Of course, the place where Boutoures helped the team most was on the mound, where he was virtually unhittable at times, at one point going six straight appearances without allowing an earned run, allowing runs in just three of 13 appearances on the season.

"He had not had much of an opportunity earlier in his career, but he got it this year and he took advantage of it," Harring said. "He became a guy who we knew we could count on to close out games and he did a great job for us this year."

After pitching at WHS, Nick Boutoures went on to pitch for UMass-Lowell, competing in Division 1 ball this year, where he had four saves coming out of the bullpen. (courtesy photo/Bob Ellis-UML).

He is such a great kid and a great competitor, so I was very happy to see him have so much success."

Boutoures will be looking to continue that success as he moves on to the next phase of his life at Suffolk University and beyond. With consecutive semesters with a 4.0 GPA, Boutoures certainly seems primed to succeed.

"I hope to go into business law, maybe even become an agent some day," Boutoures said. "I want to pursue something I love and enjoy going to work every day."

He certainly enjoyed going to the baseball field every day, playing the game he has loved since his days in Wilmington Little League. The career baseball player knows that he will miss the game he loves.

"It's going to be different not playing," Boutoures said. "I think the thing I will miss the most is being around my teammates. That is going to be the toughest part. I will miss all the friendships and camaraderie we had together."

If Boutoures will miss his teammates, then Harring and the rest of the River Hawks will certainly miss him as well.

"The kids love having him around. They just gravitated toward him," Harring said. "He's got a great personality and the kids loved him. He will definitely be missed by me and by his teammates."

Annual Pan Mass Challenge Kids Bike Ride

Over 90 Wilmington children help raise over $14,000 for cancer

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - On a gorgeous Sunday morning, 123 youngsters from Wilmington and five other surrounding towns, gathered together for a fun activity, while raising a lot of money for the Pan Mass Challenge in support of the Dana Farber Cancer Institute and Jimmy Fund.

The ninth annual Pan Mass Challenge Kids Bike Ride was held at the Boutwell School in Wilmington under the direction of WHS Varsity Coach Sue Hendee, and many other hard working volunteers. Children from pre-school to grade six representing towns from Andover, Tewksbury, Burlington, Woburn, Chelmsford and Wilmington, either rode a one mile loop around the schools on Carter Lane or cycled a "tykes on trikes" obstacle course on the tennis courts.

Over 90 children who participated reside in Wilmington.

All in all, a total of $14,500 was raised with this event which donations still coming in as of Tuesday, which brings the nine-year total to $131,500 and every single penny has gone to the Dana Farber and Jimmy Fund organizations.

"We currently have gone over the $14,000 mark in funds raised and are on our way to reaching our goal of $17,000," said Hendee. "Kids can continue to fundraise until September, so hopefully they will think of creative ways to raise even more money. What looked like an awful weather forecast early in the week, turned into one of the most ideal weather days we have ever had."

"We had a lot of help from the Wilmington Police Department, students and staff of the Andover and Wilmington Public Schools, PMC adult riders, Wilmington Kiwanis Club, Cub Scouts, family and friends. Many of these people have volunteered for many years, so they knew what to do and things ran very smoothly. Without their help and the cooperation of the riders and their families, the event would not be nearly as enjoyable."

Before the event started, three incredible youngsters were honored for their outstanding fundraising abilities from last year's event including Sophia Maynard and Bobby Cyr of Wilmington and Julie Langdon of Andover.

Hendee added that thus far three more riders have already reached the "Breakaway" Heavy Hitter status, which means they have raised over $700 each.

Those three winners were awarded a special PMC Backpack for their efforts, while another five riders were awarded a PMC drawstring backpack for being a heavy hitter raising over $250 each.

Also, before the event started, Lyndsey Pettengill of Tewksbury was honored. She was treated at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute at the very young age of three, and has been riding in this event for the past five years. She was spotted throughout the event riding along the route on a pink bike with a pink flamingo taped to her helmet.

Besides the two riding events, there was plenty of other fun activities on hand for the event including a DJ, who provided fun music, hot dogs and other refreshments and raffle prizes were given out. Each child who registered received an event t-shirt, a water bottle and other surprised goodies.

All in all, it was another extraordinary day, filled with fun, laughs and smiles for well over 100 kids who all did remarkable jobs in raising money for cancer.

"We have surpassed the $130,000 mark for total funds raised to help fight cancer since our first ride in 2006," said Hendee. "Wilmington is a very generous and caring community, and we are all glad that people from other towns are supporting our ride as well. Hopefully we will have an even bigger ride in 2015."

In a very sloppy game, Wildcats prevail over Redmen, 13-5

TEWKSBURY — It certainly wasn't pretty baseball. The teams combined to make six errors, throw three wild pitches, while the pitchers combined to walk 11 batters and hit another.

In the end, Wilmington came away with a 13-5 victory, won their third straight game and improved to 11-7 on the season.

For Tewksbury, they came back from 4-0 and 6-2 deficits before a very ugly seventh inning opened the floodgates and saw the Redmen fall to 6-12 on the season, including 0-2 against the 'Cats.

Wilmington slugged out 12 hits including a 3-for-4 performance from No. 9 hitter Matt Spurr who also drove in two runs. Brian Cavanaugh and Jamie Hill also went 2-for-4 with 2 RBI each, while Corey Stillings had a hit and two RBI and lead-off man Evan Raffi had two hits, a walk, a stolen base and scored twice.

"It was a struggle (today)," said Wildcat head coach Aldo Caira. "We started out strong and that's been the M.O. all season, but then we take a couple of innings off and we let teams back in. That's what bit us in earlier games and we're lucky to get out of this one (like the others) with a win."

"The bats were going today. It's two games in a row where we put the bat on the ball and we have taken advantage of some clutch hits. So hopefully this means something as we're hitting the end of the regular season and it can carry over to the post-season."

Senior Mike Curtis was the winning pitcher while Joe Scurto earned the save. Curtis went the first 5.1 innings giving up just three earned runs on seven hits while walking three and striking out four. Scurto, the sidearm closer, tossed 1.2 scoreless innings giving up three hits and a walk, but did get out of a huge jam in the sixth inning.

"Mike was up a bit towards the last few batters he faced so that's why we took him out but all in all he did a nice job," said Caira.

For Tewksbury, Dom

Rosado finished 3-for-4, Brett Morris went 2-for-3 with a RBI and No. 9 hitter Jon Cave had a two-run double.

"With the glass half full we swung the bats pretty good," said Tewksbury coach Ron Drouin. "We got it to 4-2 and (Nick) Bain hit the ball on the button but hit into a double play. We got it to 6-5 with second and third with one out and a good part of our line-up up and we couldn't tie the game or take the lead."

"I thought the kids played pretty hard considering we don't have quote on quote a lot to play for since we have been eliminated from tournament play already."

"I thought we swung the bats fairly aggressively. I thought defensively we caught the ball alright. We didn't kick the ball around except throwing one bunt away. We didn't kick the ball all over the place. But clearly our pitching let us down today. I'm not going to stand here and say it didn't because our pitchers were not on today."

Wilmington took a 4-0 lead in the top of the fourth as its first four guys all reached base on two hits, a walk and an error, while Jackson Gillis and Brian Cavanaugh had RBI singles.

Tewksbury left the bases loaded in the home half and then got on the scoreboard in the bottom of the third behind RBI singles by Jack Theriault and Morris. With the bases loaded and one out, Bain hit a hard grounder to short which was turned into a double play to end the threat.

Wilmington added two runs in the top of the fifth on RBI singles by Jimmy Davey and Corey Stillings to go up 6-2. Tewksbury then rallied in the bottom of the sixth to plate three runs on two hits, including the two-run double to left field by Cave and two Wilmington defensive errors. Tewksbury had runners on second and third with one out, and Scurto got out of the jam with an infield pop up, a walk to load the bases before another infield pop up ended the threat.

Wilmington took the 6-5 lead into the top of the seventh before exploding for

"It just seemed like everytime we made a mistake they capitalized," said Drouin. "They are a good baseball team. They are a pretty good baseball team and they are going to be a real tough out in the tournament because they have two very competitive pitchers."

"We just make mistakes and it seems like everytime we make a mistake the door gets kicked in. We don't have the margin of error to make the mistake. It just gets magnified. Everytime we make a mistake, it's just boom here we go. We just have to keep plugging. We have the Lawrence tournament this weekend and hopefully we can finish strong. Today we had ten hits which is pretty good and we kept coming back and were resilient until we couldn't be resilient anymore."

Tewksbury will wrap up its season in the annual Lawrence tournament this weekend. The Redmen will face Methuen on Friday and then either Lawrence or North Andover on Saturday. But Tuesday marked the last home game for five seniors, who Drouin said he will sorely miss.

"I love the seniors. We have great seniors. Jon Cave is giving you everything he has. Alex Hamilton has really turned a tough start around. He started out 0-for-17 and he has crawled his average up north of .250 and considering he started out 0-for-17 and is above .250 is a pretty good run. Nick Bain is one of the finest teammates we've ever had here. Ron Mallach is a tribute to a kid who just willed himself into having a high school baseball career. As a freshman and as a sophomore, he wasn't very good and he just kept working, working and working to get better to play center field for us."

"And Dom Rosado is as athletic and at times you sit there and say 'wow this kid is really good'. He's been a three-year starter and has given us everything. I love those five kids. They are good kids who have been a pleasure to have in this program."

Earlier in the week, Wilmington defeated Wakefield 6-1 as Jackson Gillis picked up his fourth win of the season. He tossed a complete game, giving up one earned run on four hits while walking three and striking out 14.

The game was tied at 1-1 going to the top of the seventh and senior Ryan Carrocino got things going with a lead-off walk. He was sacrificed to second on a nice bunt by junior Zack Abbott. After an intentional walk to Evan Raffi, Jimmy Davey singled up the middle to score Carrocino with what proved to be the game winning run.

The inning continued as Mike Curtis walked to load the bases and Corey Stillings singled to score both Raffi and Davey, and then Jamie Hill and Brian Cavanaugh would add RBI singles to end the five-run inning.

Wilmington will also conclude its regular season this weekend in its annual Scanlon Memorial Tournament. The Wildcats will face Concord-Carlisle on Saturday at noon, and then face either Chelmsford or Salem on Sunday - noon if they lose on Saturday, or 3 if they beat Concord-Carlisle. The Wilmington Baseball Boosters Club will be on hand for the festivities including have a veteran throw out the first pitch and bringing someone in to sing the national anthem.

After that tournament, Wilmington will await its state tournament foe - the drawings will be announced on Tuesday.

Gillis drawing attention from across the country

By JAMIE POTE

Jamiepote@hotmail.com

STONEHAM — On Monday afternoon, Wilmington High School sophomore Jackson Gillis was dealing. Really dealing. It seemed like every pitch he threw was the Ace of Diamonds.

Gillis tossed a complete game gem, leading Wilmington past Stoneham, 10-2. He carried a no-hitter into the sixth inning and when it was all over he gave up four hits, walked two, gave up one earned run and struck out 16 batters.

Head Coach Aldo Caira said at times during Monday's win it looked like Gillis was throwing better than he did in the earlier season no-hitter against Woburn, but in either case he was throwing some serious, serious gas.

"Jackson was absolutely tremendous on Monday," said Caira. "He had to be throwing 92 or 93 (miles per hour). He just completely dominated and the (Stoneham batters) had no idea what was coming."

A day after that performance, Gillis was featured on ESPN.com/Boston's website. And according to the story, a handful of major Division 1 programs are interested in Gillis already whether it be LSU, North Carolina, Duke, Vanderbilt, Boston College, Wake Forest and Pitt.

Many of those schools have been on hand during games this season, including the season opener when Gillis tossed a no-hitter and struck out 14 against Woburn. His fastball has been clocked in the high 80 range throughout the season, but Caira said that Monday's performance he was easily hitting 90 miles per hour.

Monday's win gave the 6-foot-3 left hander a 5-2 record which includes .86 strikeouts in 43.1 innings and an ERA just over 1.00.

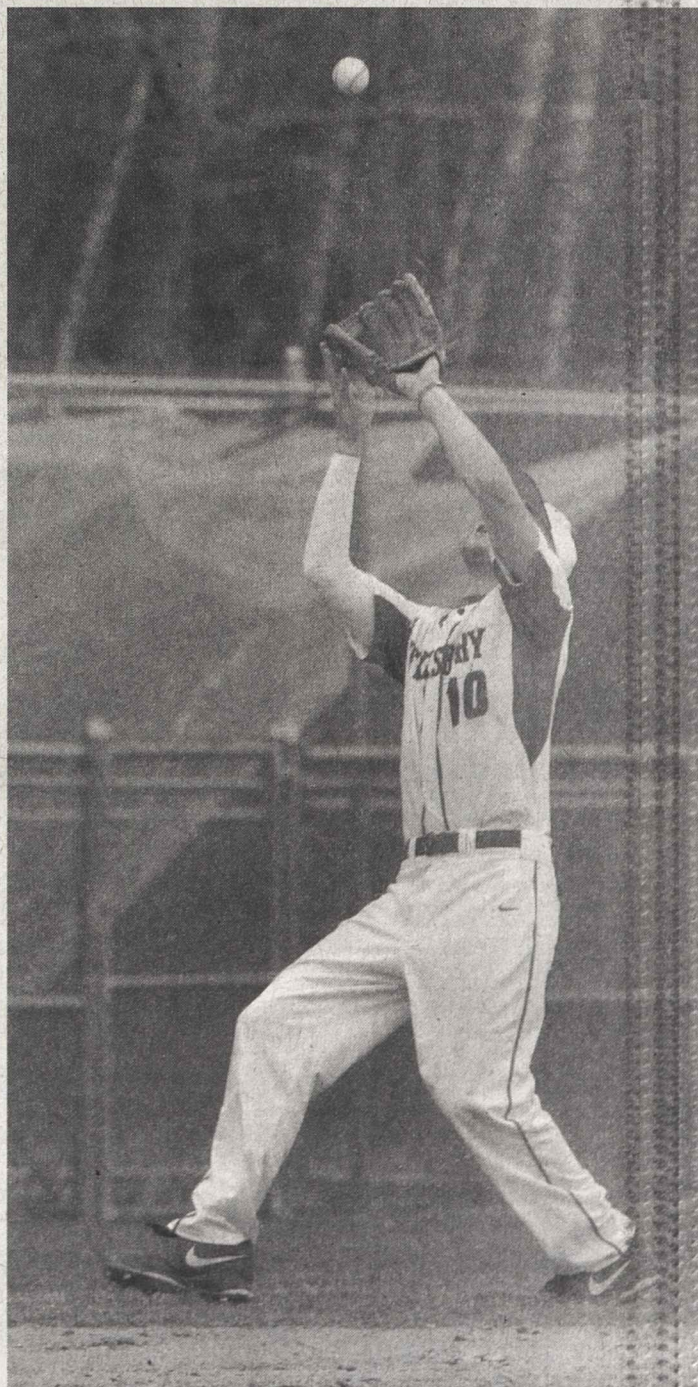

During this past off-season Gillis worked out with Matt Blake, owner of the Elite Pitching Development and pitching coordinator at Cressey Performance in Hudson, Mass. According to the ESPN.com report, Blake had watched Gillis throw on film, he immediately tried to correct a mechanical flaw.

"When he first came in I heard good things about him," Blake said in the ESPN.com report. "He has nice arm action, he's always kind of had it - that's a natural piece that makes him really special. He didn't have the footwork though, that's where his inconsistencies would show."

According to the same report, "Jackson's lack of balance and direction with his stride, though quickly identifiable on film for Blake, is one that takes countless amounts of repetition and film work for a pitcher to fix. Blake explained that because Gillis showed a tendency to overstride in his pitching motion, a lot of his pitches would miss high and out of the strike zone."

Added Blake in the same report, "With Jackson, the first time we got him off the mound we filmed him about every other bullpen. I don't usually [film] that often, but for him I felt like it was more important. He learned to reign that stride in just a hair. We just tried to re-emphasize to be a good athlete, pitch with a good tempo, and understanding that direction to the target is really important. It took him a little while to learn, harness, and repeat those concepts."

Wildcats take ML Div. 2 crown

By JAMIE POTE

STONEHAM — After missing out on the post-season last year, Wilmington High Varsity Baseball coach Aldo Caira said when the season ended that he was confident that the players and the team would rebound this year, with more experience under their belts.

That certainly came true. On Monday, the Wildcats knocked off Stoneham 10-2 to capture the Middlesex League Division 2 Championship for the second time in three years. It's also the third league title in 13 years for Caira, who earned a title back in 2008 when Wilmington competed in the Cape Ann League.

"That was real nice," said Caira. "These kids started captain's practices back in December so I think they knew all along that they had some talent and they really worked hard for it. It was nice to see their efforts pay it."

In the win, sophomore Jackson Gillis was absolutely dominating as he struck out 16 batters to improve to 5-2 as a pitcher. He was helped out by the bats, which lately has been the real story of the team.

"It seems like over the last couple of games that the different guys who have been given an opportunity to start, are the ones who have been really contributing and that's been really nice," said Caira. "It's not just Jack (Gillis) or Curtis - Corey Stillings is starting to hit the ball, even (Brian) Cavanaugh and (Matt) Spurr have been hitting."

This week alone Wilmington defeated Wakefield 6-1, Stoneham 10-2 and then Tewksbury 13-5 on Tuesday to outscore its three opponents by a 29-8 margin while improving to 11-7 on the season.

The offense got things going right away in the first inning with two runs against Stoneham. Evan Raffi led off with a single and would come around to score as Jimmy Davey doubled. After a single by Gillis moved Davey to third, Stillings drove in the second run on a sacrifice fly.

In the top of the third, the Wildcats doubled their lead when Gillis smacked a two-run homer to deep right cenanother run with a second base hit in the sixth. He finished with two hits and four RBI out of the No. 9 spot in the order.

runner Vinnie Poli with a single run in the sixth before things really opened up in the seventh. Gillis, Stillings and Poli singled and after a RBI groundout off the bat of Youth Lacrosse teams play at halftime of Cannons game

Wilmington Youth Lacrosse spent the night with the Boston Cannons professional lacrosse team this past Saturday. The kids participated in a meet and greet with Major League Lacrosse All-Star Brodie Merrill, and were also able to get autographs and photos with several other Cannons players including All-Stars Mitch Belisle, Chris Eck, and Kyle Sweeney plus Will Manny and Scott Ratliff.

The Wilmington players also participated in the pregame tunnel rally, standing on the field giving high fives and fist bumps to all the Cannons players as they were introduced before Boston's 14-6 Victory over the Charlotte Hounds.

But the highlight of the night was halftime, where the Wildcats U11 team played a game against Hopkinton in front of more than 10,300 lacrosse fans at Harvard Stadium. It was an extraordinary experience for these young athletes to play in front of such a huge audience, and it showed in their determined play on the field.

The U11 players participating in the game were: Jack Rooney, Jacob Martins, Cam Eich, Keegan Gray, Jack Malloy, John Rhind, Kevin Stevens, Brian Duggan, Brian Curdo, Jack Munro, Nick Cella, Mason Glover, Jake Perry, Ryan Dusablon, Connor Wood, Josh

Brandenburg, Erickson, Matt Vinal, Ashton Stalker, Dennis McConologue and Joey Kullman.

Boys U11 White

The Wilmington U11 White team traveled to Burlington on Sunday May 18, and put up one of its best overall performances of the season.

Hugh Murphy got the scoring started, giving the Wildcats a 1-0 lead with his first goal of the season.

Wilmington kept steady pressure on the Burlington defense, with some great chances by Brian Curdo and Cam Eich, including a shot from his knees while surrounded by defenders that was stopped by the Burlington goalie.

After a run of Burlington goals, the Wildcats regrouped at halftime and played a relentless second half. After making some key saves in goal the first half, John Rhind put up a goal and two assists in the fourth quarter to pace the offense. Wilmington also got goals from Owen White and Ryan Dusablon, who notched his first of the season after some terrific ball movement from Ryan Murray and Jimmy Ward.

Connor Wood had his second consecutive solid performance it net, making numerous point blank saves in the third and

Girls Tennis teams wins;
Boys fall short of playoffsBy MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON -- The Wilmington High Girls Tennis team wrapped up their season in impressive fashion on Tuesday afternoon, picking up a hard fought 3-2 win over Stoneham in their season finale.

With the win the Wildcats wrapped up their season with a 3-15 overall record, but more importantly they wrapped up a season where they showed great improvement from start to finish, getting some great leadership from their senior tri-captains, while also seeing their younger players gain some valuable varsity experience.

Wilmington coach Matt Hackett, in his first year coaching the girls team after previously coaching the Wildcats Boys team, was very happy to see his team close out their season with a victory.

"It was great to get a win. That was kind of our goal today, to send the seniors off with a win after all they have brought to the team," Hackett said. "It was a great way to thank them for all of their dedication to the team."

Making the victory even more special for Hackett and his team was that one of those seniors Christina D'Ambrosio won the clinching match for the Wildcats, taking her third singles match 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

"Christina is one of those players that as the season went on, just had ice water in her veins," Hackett said. "Nothing ever rattled her and she won almost every close match she was in. She always played well under pressure."

"Today was sort of representative of what she has done for us all year. Her demeanor on the court is just what you want in tennis. You look at her on the court and you can't tell what the score is because she keeps the same demeanor and that really helped her this season."

The team's other senior captains, Sophie Serna in first singles and Erin Hurley in second singles, were unable to pick up wins on Tuesday, but that did not diminish all that they brought to the Wildcats all season.

Serna, who returned from injury to play in her final varsity match, was a perfect example of what the seniors meant to the team this season.

"Sophie is a fierce competitor and she is her own worst critic. She is hard on herself and because of that she brought her game to a higher level and that is a great quality to have in a captain," Hackett said. "She set a good example for the team at the top of the lineup, and that includes today when she went out there despite being hurt and gave her best for the team."

"It is tough at the top of the lineup in this league, because you are almost always playing against an awesome player, but her presence at the top of the lineup really helped stabilize the rest of our lineup."

Hurley's approach to the game at second singles was the perfect complement to Serna's intensity at first singles.

"Erin added something different to our team. She was probably the most positive and optimistic player that we had," Hackett said. "Like Christina she handled things very well when things were going against her. She was also such a hard worker. She was always asking questions and was always working on her game. And if you watched Erin play towards the end of the year, you could see that her consistency was light years ahead of where it was at the beginning of the year."

The doubles combinations for the Wildcats provided a glimpse into the future as well as providing a strong showing in the present in Tuesday's win as each came through with a victory.

The first doubles combination of freshman Samantha Maragioglio and sophomore Jess Nussbaum followed with a 6-3, 6-0 victory.

"They have been playing very well for us lately and today was more of the same," Hackett said. "They are a really good complement to one another. Jess is very consistent and Sam brings a lot of power."

The second doubles combination of juniors Rachel Cummings and Sam Worab pulled out an exciting three set victory by a score of 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

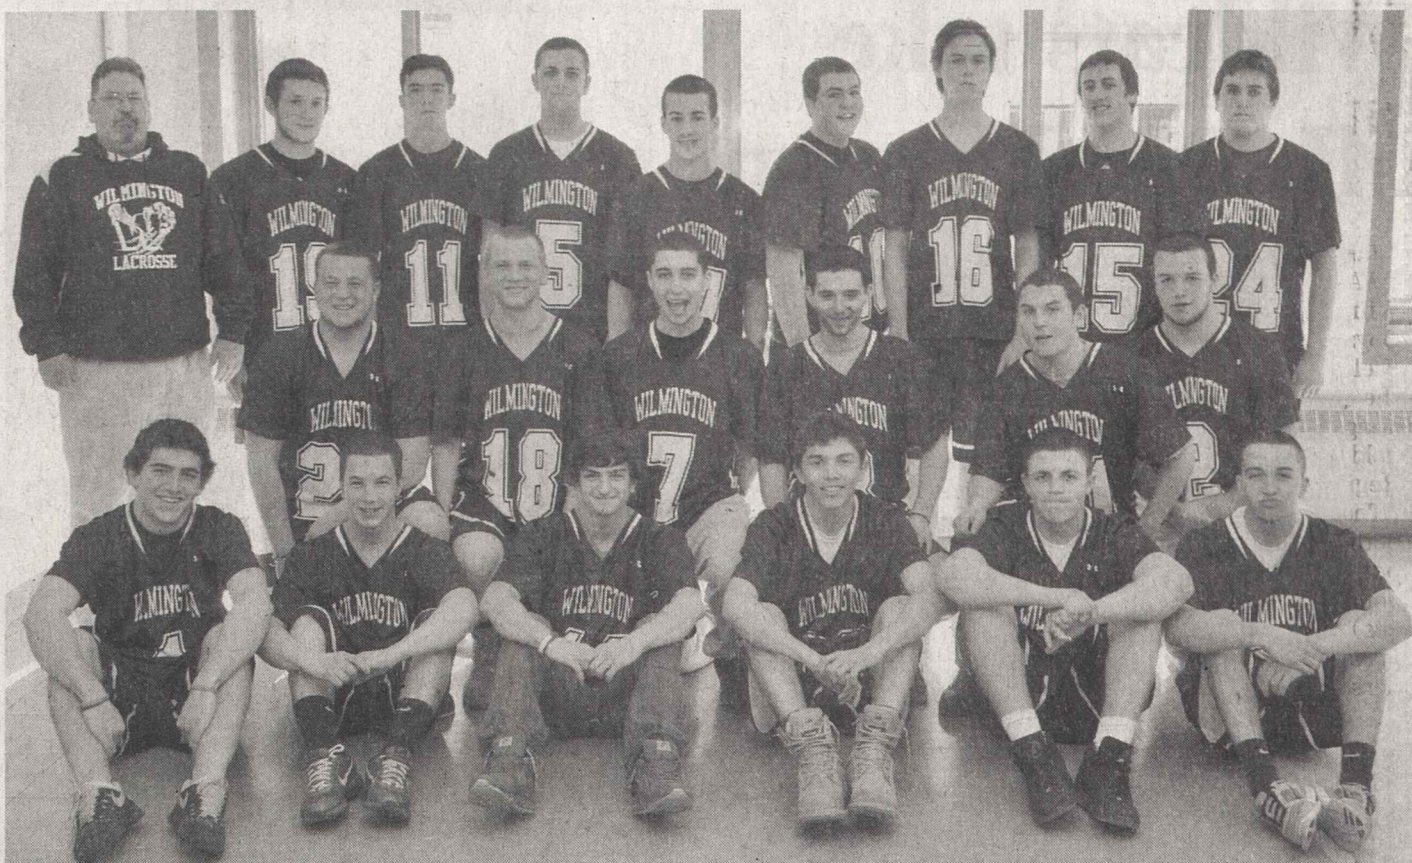

"Almost all of their wins have come in three sets, which just shows their ability to continue to fight through matches," Hackett said. "Today was a perfect example with the way they rallied after losing that first set, and it is not the first time they have done that this season."

BOYS TENNIS

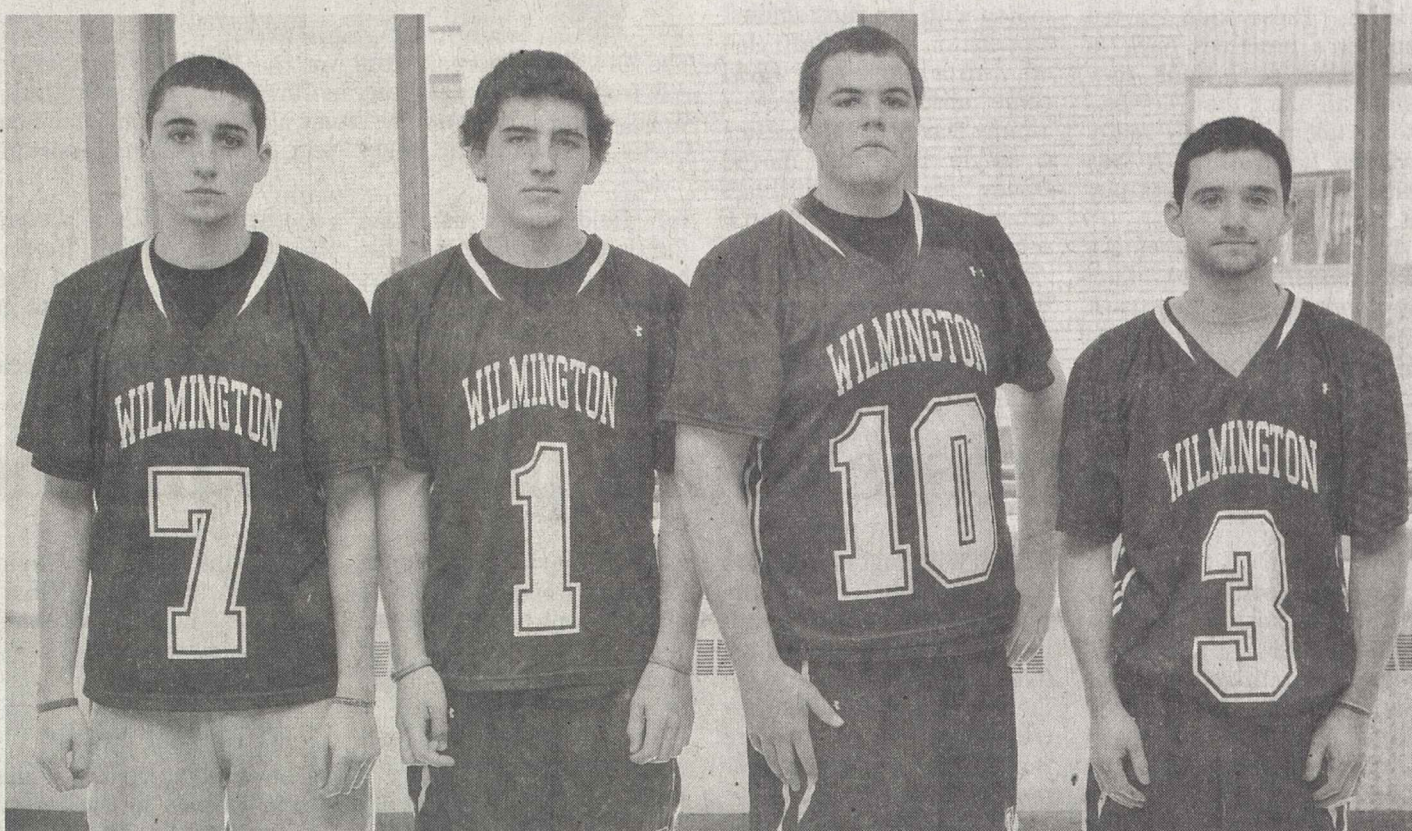

With one game remaining in the regular season the Wilmington High Boys Tennis team has learned their post season fate, and for the third straight season, it appears the Wildcats will fall just one win short of their goal of qualifying for the state tournament.

With a 7-10 record heading into Wednesday's season finale against Stoneham, a team the Wildcats dominated earlier in the season, it appears they will finish with an 8-10 record for the third consecutive season, a tough pill to swallow for coach Rob Mailey and his team.

"We've been playing hard, but now we are 7-10 so that is kind of tough for us," Mailey said. "I don't want to be negative because the kids have been working so hard, but three years in a row to come up just short is very difficult for them."

Picking up victories on the day for the Wildcats was both of their senior doubles combinations, with co-captains Chris Saporito and Mike Diorio leading the way in first doubles with a 6-3, 7-5 victory, while Alex Neville and Adam Coccoluto took their second singles match 6-4, 6-3.

The Wildcats were not as fortunate in singles play, as Justin Wright and Mike Gake each lost straight set matches in first and third singles, respectively.

"Justin had a tough day. He had beaten the Wakefield kid the last time we played and the kid was clearly out for revenge and he got it," Mailey said. "And Wakefield is very tough in third singles. Their kid is like a human backboard and he just made it real difficult for Mike."

The second singles match was the true heartbreaker, with junior Robbie Mailey coming up just short in a 6-3, 5-7, 7-5 three set match that last three hours and 20 minutes.

"Robbie was down 2-4 in the second set and it looked like he might be all done, but then he caught lightning in a bottle to win that second set," Mailey said. "And then in the third set, he went down 3-5, but again he fought back to make it 5-5 before the other kid won the last two points. He really wanted to win for his teammates, especially the seniors, but it was not meant to be."

The Wildcats did come back to pick up a win on Monday afternoon, picking up a 3-2 win over Watertown.

Saporito moved up the third singles and picked up a big win for the Wildcats, taking a thrilling 5-7, 6-3, 6-2 victory, while the first doubles team of Diorio and Coccoluto came up with a 6-0, 6-2 victory and the second doubles team of Neville and Jon MacKinnon won 6-2, 6-3.

"It was nice for us to come back with a win like that," Mailey said. "I thought the kids played really well."

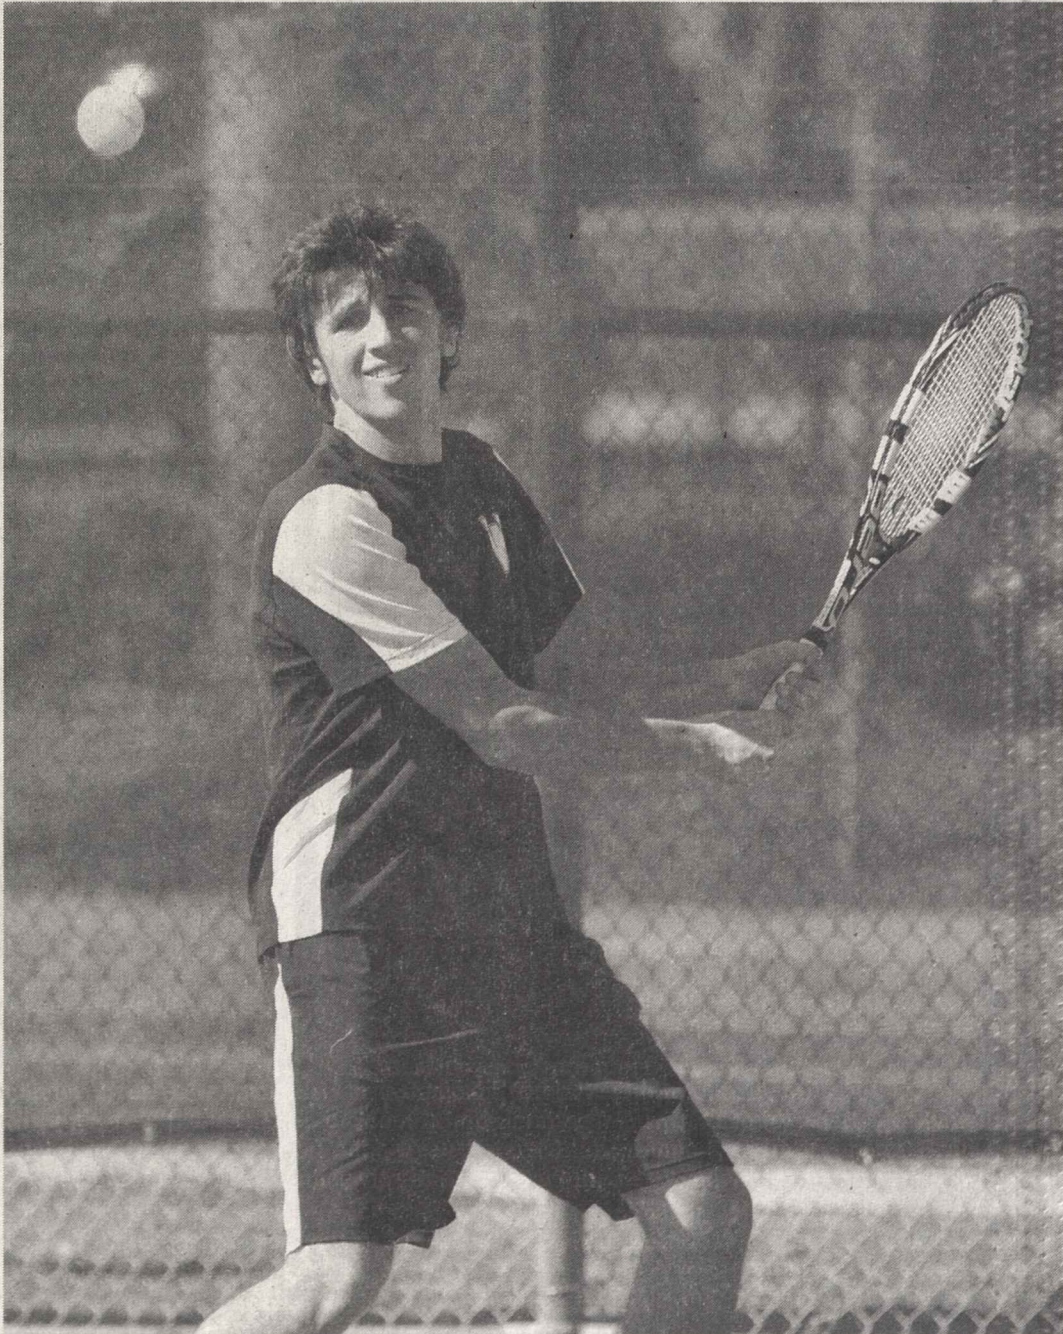

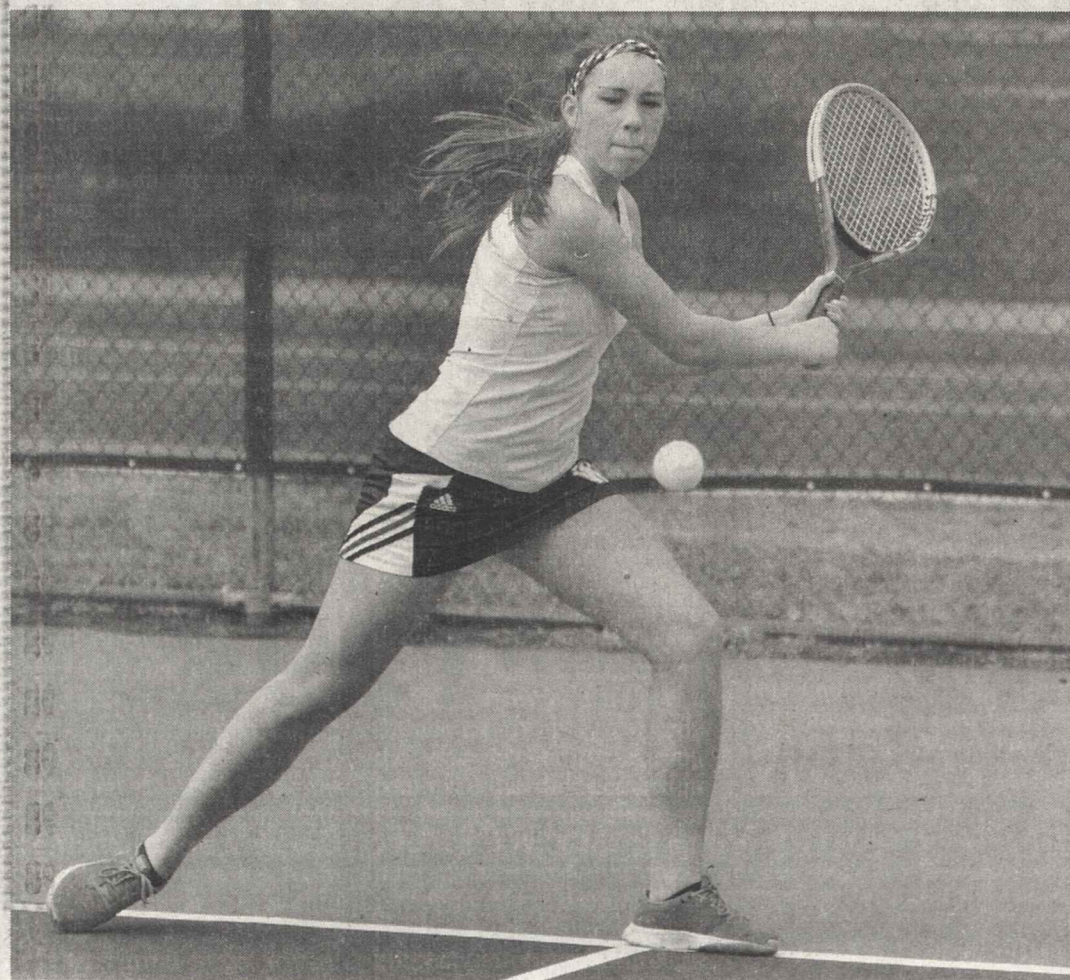

The victory was just the latest positive to happen for the Wildcats this season, and Mailey is hoping that despite their disappointment in having missed the tournament, they will remember some of their better moments.

"It's real difficult right now, but one of the positives was that we played some of the better teams in the league very well," Mailey said. "We are playing the (better teams) a little better and that is a good sign for us. Even though they are frustrated now I hope they realize they have raised the compete level higher than it has been in years past."

The toughest part of seeing the season end shy of the post season for Mailey is saying goodbye to his four seniors, Dioris, Saporito, Coccoluto and Neville, all of whom have been a big part of the Wildcats throughout their careers.

"They were all strong com-

Middlesex League Championship Meet Weaver, others, shine at League Track Meet

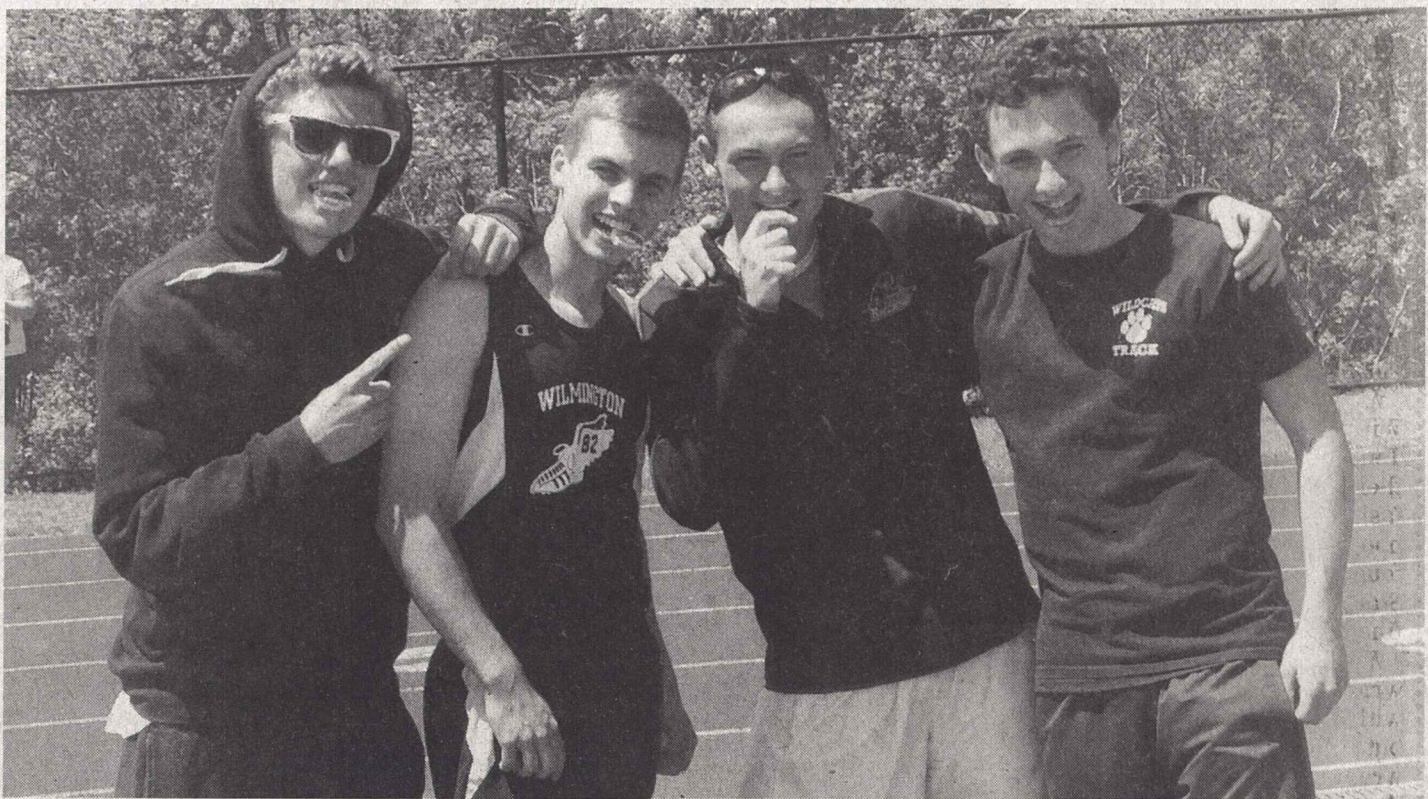

By JAMIE POTE

Jamiepote@hotmail.com
WALTHAM -- The Wilmington High School Boys and Girls Track-and-Field teams participated in the annual Middlesex League Championship Meet held Tuesday afternoon at Regis College.

The day was a success as both Kaitlyn Cowden (shot put and discus) and Eli Jennings (shot put and discus) and junior Steve Layon (javelin) came away as winners.

Cowden led the girls team to an eighth place finish with 20 of the team's 44 points. Lexington won the meet with 122.50 points followed by Wakefield (79), Belmont (70.50), Melrose (69) and Burlington (68) to round out the top five teams in the 12-team event.

Jennings and Layon accounted for 30 of the boys team's 67 points which was good for fifth place overall. The Wildcats trailed Woburn (110), Lexington (108), Reading (89.25) and Stoneham (73).

From left, Joe Gaudreau, Connor Townsend, Kyle Souza and Evan Sperlinga competed in the 4x200 relay race at the Division 3 State Relay Meet on Sunday at Pembroke High School and broke the school's record with a time of 1:34.96.

Starting with the Boys team, besides Jennings and Layon, other individual place finishers included Jon Weaver with a second place in discus with 134-2 personal best throw and seventh in the shot with 40-11, Jared Walsh with a third in the mile (4:34) and Evan Sperlinga with a fifth in the 100 at 11.78 seconds.

Also scoring included Devin Langenfeld with a fifth in the triple jump (39-1), while Kyle Souza grabbed a sixth in the 400 (52.8), Joe Gaudreau was seventh in the 200 (23.18) and Colin Chase was seventh in the 400-meter hurdles at 61.2 seconds.

Wilmington also scored points in all three relay races. The team of Walsh, Alex Pizette, Craig Smith and Kevin Goncalves finished at a combined time of 8:50 to take fifth in the 4x800 race. The 4x400 team qualified for the state meet with a time of 3:40.2, good for sixth place and that foursome consisted of Colin Chase, Souza, Connor Townsend and Ryan Horgan.

Finally the 4x100 relay team was eighth behind the efforts of Gaudreau, Sperlinga, Langenfeld and Steve Godfrey as they were clocked at 46.7 seconds.

Turning to the Girls team, besides Cowden both Alex Bischoff and Amber Peach placed in two individual events. Bischoff was fourth in the javelin (102-03) and 400 (1:00.65) and Peach was sixth in the 110-meter hurdles (17.62) and eighth in the triple jump (32-02.50).

In the 800, Julia Gake was fifth at 2:21.53 and Kelly Hartsough was seventh at 2:23.53 and finally the 4x400 relay team of Hartsough, Gake, Jordyn Granara and Bischoff combined for a time of 4:16.03 which was good for third place.

"We had a lot of great things happen today," said head coach Brie Karow. "Alex Bischoff qualified for the states in the javelin, Julia Gake did her best time in the 200, Jordyn Granara had her best time in the mile at 5:58, so we had a lot of personal bests and just so many good things happened for us."

On Sunday, the Boys team finished in 10th place at the Division 3 State Relay Meet held at Pembroke High School. Wilmington had three teams place in the top six as part of the team's 20 points on the day.

Bishop Feehan won the meet followed by Milton, Pembroke and then Middlesex League foes Wakefield and Burlington.

The 4x200 relay team of Joe Gaudreau, Evan Sperlinga, Kyle Souza and Connor Townsend were the highlight of the meet as they finished first with a combined time of 1:34.96 which also broke the school's record.

"This record means a lot because we have all been working very hard and it was a team effort," said Townsend. "We had a freshman Joe Gaudreau who ran the fastest out of anyone, so he did a real good job. I think we were all caught by surprise with this - we had all of the intentions of doing well and placing as high as we could at meets, but breaking a longtime school record is just great and I don't think any of us thought we would do it. It means a lot to me, and it means a lot to all of us."

Kinney said that all four of them have really worked hard to achieve this goal.

"Joe Gaudreau is just a freshman and he is a very talented sprinter and has been running some very fast times," said Kinney. "Evan Sperlinga has a great start and has had a great season running the 100, 200, and the 4x100 along with Deven Langenfeld and Dan Bell."

"Kyle (Souza) and Connor (Townsend) are outstanding and hardworking seniors who have made a huge impact on our team's success this year."

The discus team of Eli Jennings, Jon Weaver and Kyle Nelson finished second with a combined throw of 363-11, which included a 15-foot toss by Jennings.

Finally, the 4x110 shuttle hurdle relay team consisting of Ben Rohleder, Nathan Vince, Connor Bennett and Luke McInnis finished in fifth place with a combined time of 1:10.41. Kinney said assistant coach Rick Barry deserves a lot of credit for the success of this team.

Wilmington High Sophomore Christina Spinos is all smiles as she is about to hand the baton off as part of the 4x400 relay race during a recent meet.

Girls Lacrosse team ends season with a win

By BRENDAN FOLEY

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Varsity Girls Lacrosse team roared to life for a triumphant Senior Night game against the visiting Tewksbury Memorial High School Redmen.

With a strong showing by both the departing seniors, and promising work by a number of upcoming talent, the Wildcats smashed through Tewksbury defenses for a 22-12 victory.

Both teams have suffered through difficult seasons, as injuries and young teams have left them battling for every available goal. Both teams entered Monday's game with only one win, a disappointing result after several hard-fought weeks. With their victory, the Wildcats improved to 2-12-1, while Tewksbury fell to 1-13.

"We haven't had enough consistency in certain parts of the field this year, especially goalie," said Tewksbury coach Joel McKenna. "We've had a couple of injuries and we've had to bring our JV goalie up tonight. Things like that are going to take their toll as the season has gone along."

But both teams have managed to have bright spots even amongst their struggles. For Tewksbury, senior Taylor Lirakis recently crossed over the 100-goal marker, placing a strong cap on her high school lacrosse career.

"It's a huge accomplishment for her to reach that milestone," McKenna said. "It's awesome that she's made that her goal in her senior season."

For Wilmington, their strengths were on fine display throughout Monday's game. Rookie goalie Sam Grasso was a major presence in net, swatting away over ten Redmen shots with ease.

On the offensive end, senior center Rachel Mara led the charge, carrying the ball past Tewksbury defenses again and again to keep the goals rolling in. Mara scored twice in the first two minutes of the game, creating a deficit that Tewksbury would never come close to filling.

Mara had great chemistry with fellow senior Caroline Robarge, who racked up an impressive series of goals over the course of the evening.

The Wildcats worked wonderfully as a unit, cycling the ball back and forth through the offensive end before darting in for the strike and the point.

"Offensively, we dominated the field," Wilmington head coach Sarah Simpson said. "Our skills were a little bit better than theirs today."

Also proving invaluable to the Wildcat game were Moesha Jane Beray and Dana Rosetti. Thanks to their quick, smart plays, the Wildcats were able to keep constant pressure on the Tewksbury zone, never relenting from their drive to victory.

But even in an unsuccessful season, the Redmen have still found plenty of players to be proud of. Besides Lirakis's milestone, this season has seen Carly Slavin come into her own as an offensive force. A fearsome competitor on Monday's game, Slavin did not cease her efforts until the very last whistle.

"This is her first year playing varsity," McKenna said. "She's improved a lot, and her work ethic and the way that she plays is going to lead her far. She's got unbelievable character. They could be down with ten seconds left, she's still out there working hard, trying to get something going for her and her teammates."

Hayley Sutherland and Bridget Casey also proved to be hard-charging forces against the Wildcats, tearing through defensive lines in unerring breaks towards the net.

It was this growth and success as individuals which McKenna held onto following a tough season.

"We've seen some growth out of a couple of our players, which is always a fantastic thing," he said. "They haven't quit on each other."

For her part, Simpson is happy to see her team have such a decisive victory on their Senior Night. With both upper and underclassman working in tandem to send the graduating girls off right, the result was one of the high points of the season.

"The fans helped," Simpson said. "And I work with a really close-knit group of girls, and I know that the underclassman wanted a win for their seniors. I was happy from beginning to end of this game."

Freshman Grasso makes key saves in the net

By BRENDAN FOLEY

WILMINGTON - Monday was Senior Night but it looked more like 'Freshman Night'.

The Wilmington High School Varsity Girls Lacrosse team played host to neighbor Tewksbury in a non-league showdown played at the high school's field turf. And before the game started, the seniors were honored for playing in their final home game, but it was a ninth grader Sam Grasso who ultimately stole the spotlight.

The netminder commanded the net, stopping missile after missile to help the Wildcats maintain their lead en route to a 22-12 victory. With over ten huge saves bolstering the team forward, Grasso was integral to the Wildcat victory.

Grasso's performance was all the more impressive considering that this is only her first year playing lacrosse. While she had a great deal of experience in hockey and soccer, stepping onto the lacrosse field was an entirely new experience.

"It takes a very special type of person to step in front of that fastball," said head coach Sara Simpson. "I think if you have the passion and the talent to play goal, then you can build skills on top of that."

Playing inbetween the posts in lacrosse is one of the least sought-after positions in the game, but it was this same fact which attracted Grasso. With so little experience in the game, stepping into an empty role was the perfect means to make a mark, right from the start.

"I knew going in that most people knew more about the game than me," Grasso said. "Not a lot of people wanted to play goalie, so I figured I would have a better chance of being picked up."

Even with her enthusiasm, goaltending was not an easy position, and Grasso has worked extensively with training coaches to continue improving throughout the season. Along with mastering the physical and reflexive corners of the game, Grasso has realized that a key component of holding down the net is keeping her mental game as sharp as possible.

"You have to not be afraid of it," Grasso said. "I would move my body along with the ball, and tried to forget that it might hurt. Even if it did hurt, that's not as bad as the feeling you get when you see the ball go in."

Grasso's evolution came to a head in Monday's face-off with Tewksbury. Shot after shot, she stared down the strongest, fastest girls that the Redmen had to offer, and never once blinked.

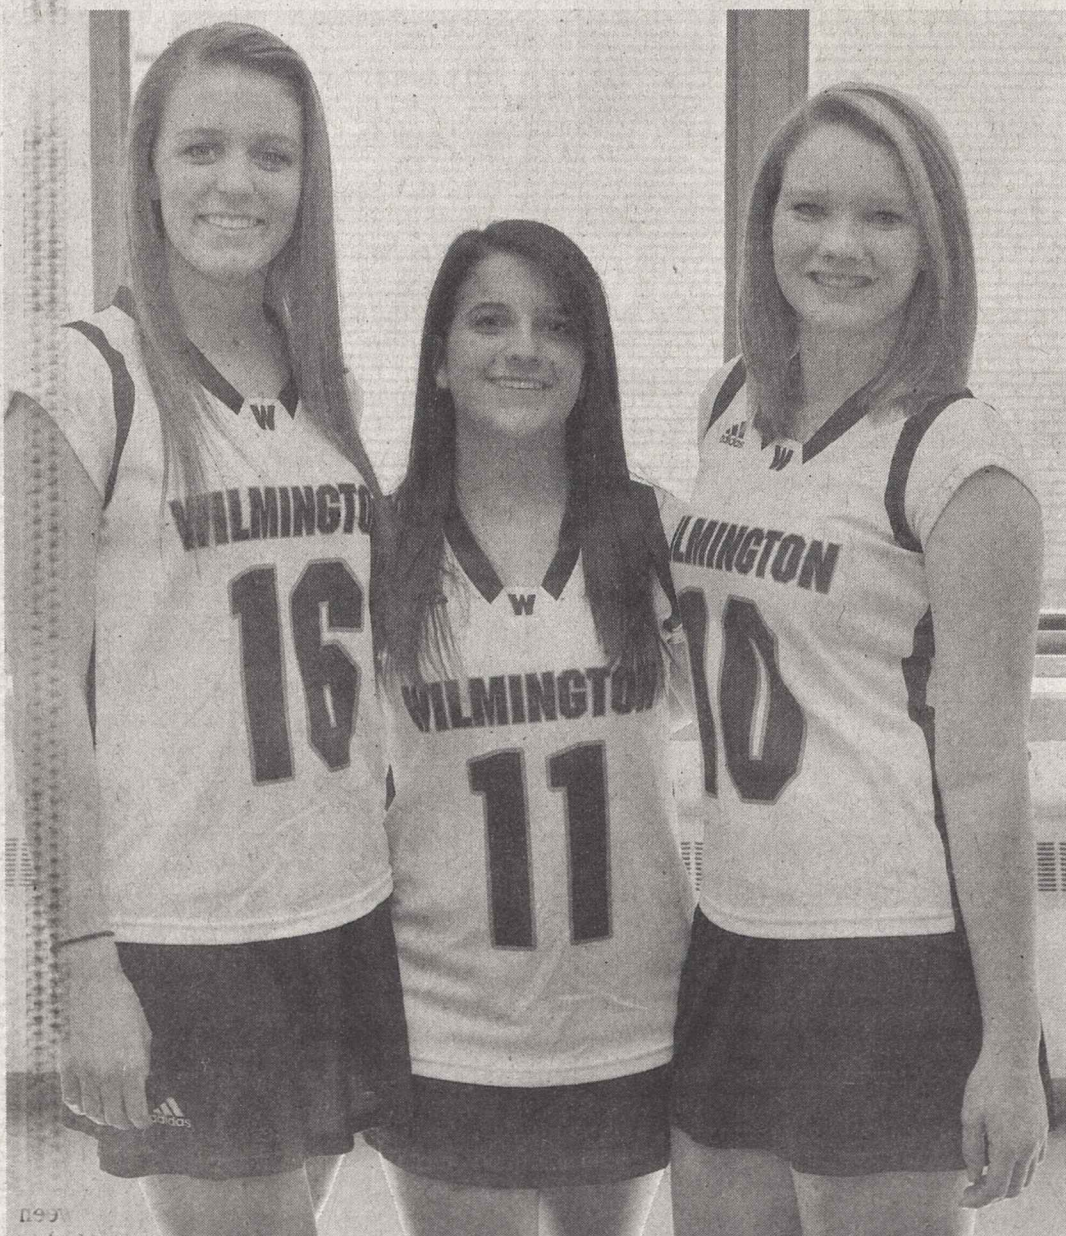

While the Wildcat offensive kept a steady stream of goals hurtling through the Tewksbury net, it was Grasso's unerring control of the net which kept Wilmington dominant.

"Her save percentage went up phenomenally this game," said Simpson.

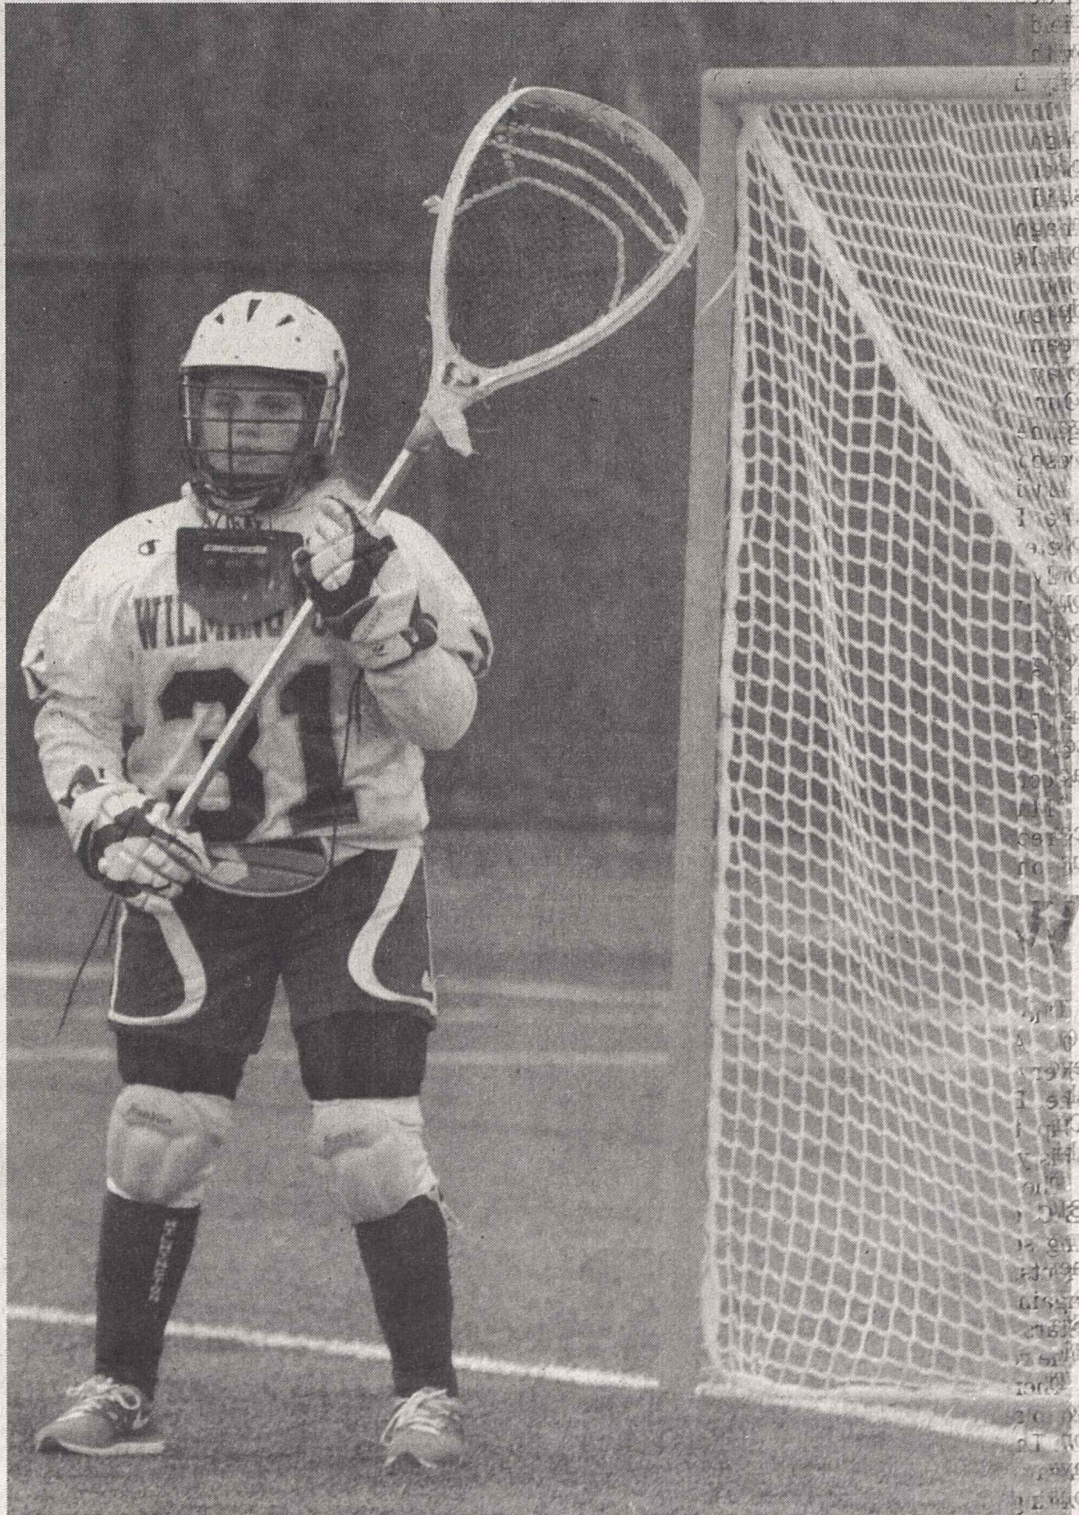

No one was more surprised by the command performance than Grasso herself. As she explained, she only played the same game that she always does, but to tremendous results. "I didn't do anything different," Grasso said. "I just played my game and was on top of it."

With her almost her entire high school career in front of her, and three completely different sports to choose from, it is safe to expect great things from the young athlete. While her first year as goalie has had challenges, games like Monday's prove just how far she has come.

"It's very different," Grasso said. "Being a goalie can be overwhelming. But I knew my angles from other sports, and that really helped a lot. I felt really good, and everyone was real supportive of me. It was great."

Rams Baseball team grabs a share of league title

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA – After earning a surprising berth in the state tournament last season the Shawsheen Tech Baseball team was looking for even bigger and better things this season. On Monday afternoon they accomplished their season long goal and clinched a share of the CAC title with a 2-1 win over CAC rival Greater Lowell.

With the win the Rams improved to 11-6 overall and 9-3 in the CAC and earned a three-way tie for the league crown along with Greater Lowell and Whittier, their second league title in three years, having also won in 2012 under coach Jim Sullivan when they shred the title with Whittier.

This year's group, under the direction of coach Bran McCarthy, battled all season long before taking Monday's dramatic win and McCarthy has been very pleased with their progress throughout the season.

"The kids on this year's team have been great. It's been a fun year to watch them really come together as a team and play good solid baseball," McCarthy said. "They are a hard working group of players. I remember that from early on this season thinking that our strength would be our work ethic and determination, and it was, without a doubt.

"It was an absolute pleasure to watch them celebrate yesterday's win on the field. Just knowing all the hard work that they have put into it from not only all season long, but the entire off-season as well, made it very rewarding."

Making the league title even more satisfying is that it came in a thriller of a game with the Rams pulling out the extra inning win to cap off a tense pitcher's duel between the Rams Matt Lucia of Tewksbury and Greater Lowell's Nik Powers.

Shawsheen scored the winning run in the eighth when James Gibb of Wilmington doubled to lead off the inning and moved to third after an intentional walk to Lucia and a great sacrifice bunt by Lars Hansen, setting up junior Dan Daniliuk-Poirier who scored Gibb with a deep sacrifice fly to right field, ending a game played with tournament like intensity from start to finish.

"It was honestly the best high school game I've ever been a part of," McCarthy said. "Both teams were magnificent, with two great pitchers squaring off against one another, with solid defense behind them. Our team showed up ready to play right from the get-go. Our kids knew what the game was all about and they responded."

Lucia was outstanding for the Rams, tossing a complete game, while allowing only two hits and striking out two batters. Lucia has been outstanding all season long with a 5-2 record and a 1.14 ERA and 34 strikeouts in 37 innings, but he was better than ever on Monday, according to McCarthy.

"Matt had the game of his career. He was a bulldog for us on the mound as usual,"

McCarthy said. "He worked efficiently the whole game (throwing only 76 pitches over the entire eight inning game). I've never seen anything like that in high school baseball."

Daniliuk-Poirier's game winning sacrifice fly was his second RBI of the game, having driven in Lucia with an RBI double in the sixth inning to tie the game at 1-1 for the Rams.

"Dan stepped up big for us yesterday," McCarthy said. "He's another example of a kid that worked hard all year long, to be ready to step up when the team needed him. And we needed him yesterday. To get both RBI's on the day against a great pitcher in Powers, it was awesome to see."

The Rams had dropped their previous game last Thursday to Mystic Valley by a score of 6-5 despite the efforts of junior catcher Tim Lavoie, who went 2-for-3 with two doubles and two runs scored and Hansen, who was 3-for-3 on the day.

Prior to that, the Rams had picked up a big 15-0 win over Pope John last Wednesday in a game that clinched their spot in the state tournament. Junior Anthony Bova and sophomore Anthony Diranian each went 3-for-4 in the game with Bova driving in three runs and Diranian driving in four.

Tom Welch picked up the win on the mound for the Rams, allowing four hits and striking out seven in the mercy rule shortened five inning game.

SOFTBALL

Needing a win in one of their last two games of the season in order to qualify for the state tournament, the Shawsheen Tech Softball team wasted little time in taking care of business on Tuesday afternoon, routing CAC rival Whittier in a road game by a score of 14-2 in six innings to improve to 9-8 overall and secure a spot in the post season.

While a young and inexperienced Shawsheen team has been inconsistent at times this season as they saw their streak of seven consecutive CAC championships come to an end, there were no such issues on this day, as they rolled to the important victory.

"We played like Lady Rams today," Shawsheen coach Maureen Buckley said. "I think one of our players (Mariah Wentzell) said it best after the game. She said I am very proud of us today because we played hard and we played well and we did not quit or let the game get away from us."

"I think that's true. That's what it's about. We kept our focus the entire game and we played like we would need to play for a tournament game."

Junior pitcher Kerri Hegarty picked up the win for the Lady Rams, pitching all six innings, while allowing only two hits while both runs were unearned.

Offensively Shawsheen was led by senior Danielle Cacciola who had a second inning grand slam to blow the game open, and had five total RBI on the game. Fellow senior Kennedy Harper of Wilmington also had a big game, capping off a huge week of production, going 2-for-3 with four RBI, while Mikayla Porcaro of Tewksbury was 2-for-5 with a run scored and an RBI and Jamie Roy of Tewksbury was 3-for-4 with two RBI.

While the win clinched a spot in the tournament, Buckley knows there is more work to be done, starting with her team's season finale on Thursday in a rematch with Whittier.

"As I told the girls after the game, it was nice to get the win and to get into the tournament, but let's go out and get another win and get us above that group of teams at the .500 mark," Buckley said. "That could mean the difference between playing in a preliminary round game or not."

The Lady Rams had dropped their most recent game prior to the Whittier win losing a 5-0 decision to non-league rival Bishop Fenwick on Sunday, but they had won their two previous games to put themselves in position for Tuesday's tournament clincher.

Last Thursday might have been their most important win of the season prior to the Whittier game as they pulled out a 7-5 win over CAC rival Whittier to improve to 8-7 at the time, and point ning runs in the bottom of the sixth to take the 7-5 victory.

Mariah Wentzell also had a big day at the plate for Shawsheen with two hits, two stolen bases and two runs scored, while Hegarty has another strong game pitching, tossing a complete game, allowing seven hits and two earned runs while striking out four batters.

Last Wednesday Shawsheen defeated non-league rival Fenway in a road game by a score of 15-0. Cacciola led the way on offense, going 4-for-4 with two runs scored and an RBI while Lauren Barletta was 4-for-5 with a run scored and three RBI.

BOYS LACROSSE

The Shawsheen Boys Lacrosse team also saw their streak of seven consecutive CAC titles come to an end this season, but much like their softball counterparts they still managed to overcome a young and inexperienced lineup and this week clinched a spot in the state tournament with a 9-8 record after suffering an 8-6 loss to non-league rival Medford on Monday afternoon.

Shawsheen led 5-2 at the half against Medford, but their opponents stormed back in the second half to take the victory despite three goals from Jack Stone and individual goals from Tom Avtgis, Jach DeLuca and John Stokes as well as 19 saves in net from goalie Kevin Vacca.

"We came out just like we wanted and got a 5-2 half-time lead, but Medford came back and tied the game in the third and then went up 7-5," Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker said. "We continued to battle though, and cut the lead to 7-6 until they popped one with about 30 seconds left."

Vacca's 19 saves were just the latest example of the fine job he has done in net for Shawsheen, even in defeat, as he also came up with 22 saves in a 13-2 loss to Triton last Friday.

"Kevin is working hard. He is making huge saves to try to keep the team in games," Baker said.

Avtgis and Stone have also been outstanding as of late for the Rams, with Avtgis netting six goals in a 16-4 win over Greater Lowell last Wednesday, while Stone had five goals in the same game in addition to his hat trick against Medford.

"I moved (Avtgis) to attack and since then, with his offensive skill and gritty play, he has been playing very well," Baker said. "(Stone) has been playing very well at X for us. He is starting to establish himself as a very good crease scorer for us."

While this season has been a little different than many in the recent past for Shawsheen as they had to battle for a playoff spot instead of storming to another league title, Baker has been happy with what he has seen from his team, as they have continued to improve over the course of the season.

In addition to qualifying for the state tournament the Rams also qualified for the state vocational tournament which will get underway on Thursday against Blackstone.

"I am happy. They are working hard. I just wish we developed a little quicker. We are a much better team at this point of the season than at the beginning," Baker said. "They still show the lack of maturity with dropped balls and hesitation at times on the field and we still have not established the killer instinct that we have had in the past."

"It has been a little different from past teams, frustrating for some upper classmen, but we continue to improve. The future is them in the right direction headed into the final week of the season.

"That was a huge win for us. We were behind for a good portion of the game, but we came back to win and that was huge because it put us in position to control our own destiny," Buckley said.

After falling behind by scores of 2-0 in the first inning, 4-2 in the second and 5-3 in the fourth the Lady Rams eventually tied the score in the bottom of the fourth when a single by Harper (4-for-4, two doubles, three RBI) drove in Tewksbury's Katie Welch and Arianna Nicosia drove in Emily Knoops.

Wildcats take Invitational Cup

The Wilmington Wildcats '01 All-Star hockey team every year participates in the Breakaway Invitational Cup tournament (BIC) and this year was no different.

The Wildcats won their first BIC championship by beating some very worthy opponents. Their first game was against the Tewksbury All Stars on Wednesday night. The result was a 10-1 victory.

Then Wilmington moved on to play the Chelmsford 01's on Thursday night and came away with another strong outing and beat them 3-0.

Saturday was the Wildcats third game of the tournament and they had to face the Billerica 01's. They continued to roll along by defeating Billerica 7-1.

The 3-0 record gave Team Wilmington a first round bye into the championship bracket which consisted of the following powerhouse clubs, Andover, Reading, Masco, North Reading and Medford.

Wilmington played a very strong Masco team in the semi final round of the championship and came away with a 2-0 victory. The win put the 01' Wildcat All Stars into the championship game against first year contender, Medford. As with all the other teams that came before them, the Wilmington 01's prevailed with a spectacular 7-3 victory..

Wilmington played some tremendous hockey over the weekend and came away with the coveted BIC championship trophy.

The 01' Wilmington team consisted of Goaltender Robbie Farrell, Defenseman Timmy Kippenberger, Dylan Wargo, Conlin Duffy and Matt Ackerman. Forwards were Nolan Ricci, Joey Hill, Christain Robarge, Ryan Barrett, Danny McGaffigan, Dean Nally, Nolan Fitzgerald and Zach Kincaid.

petitors for us, but beyond that, they were real good character kids," Mailey said. "They showed up every day and worked really hard. In all honesty they might be my favorite seniors that I have had during my time at Wilmington High. We will miss them."

BOYS LACROSSE

The Wilmington High Lacrosse team is also looking to finish their season strong, having won their most recent game, a 9-8 win over Stoneham on Senior Night last Wednesday to improve to 3-12 on the season.

After starting their season with an 0-8 record, the Wildcats will wrap up their season on this Wednesday night at North Reading, looking to finish with a .500 record over the second half of the season, fulfilling the prediction that first year coach Fran Peters had made for his team at the midway point.

"We have played a lot better in the second half of the season," Peters said. "We challenged them to go .500 in the second half of the season and if we can beat North Reading we will do that. Even if we don't win, we will have won two of our last three games and that will be a good stepping stone going into next year."

In the win over Stoneham, the Wildcats were led by three goals by Rob Fullerton, while Matt Penney had a pair of goals and Scott Manganelli and Chris Pennie added one goal apiece in a game where the Wildcats led comfortably before Stoneham mounted a late charge.

"It was a good win for us," Peters said. "It could have been a bigger score for us, but we missed a lot of shots and their goalie played very well for them."

The strong finish to the season has given Peters great confidence in his team's chances heading into next season. While acknowledging that the loss of seniors Manganelli, goalie Austin O'Neal, Chris Jackson and Justin DeNarcia will be difficult to take, he feels that with the core returning players next season, including Penney, Pennie, Fullerton, Joey Marino and Steve DeFuria among others, will lead to a great season.

"Next year I fully expect us to be pushing for a playoff spot. We have one year under our belt and I think we will do well," Peters said. "I will sit down with each of the players later this week and talk about what needs to be done to get better. If they work on things they need to work on, we will make the playoffs, but if they don't pick up their sticks until the first day of practice we will not. I am putting pressure on myself saying that, but I believe in this team."

WHS Softball

The Wilmington High School Softball team was very busy this past week with four games, winning two and losing two. The play started with a 10-0 win over Watertown as senior Heather Benson tossed a one-hit shut out including striking out nine batters. Offensively Cassie Grasso had three RBI, and Makayla Donahue and Danielle Reynolds had two RBI each. Mikayla Ouellette made her catching debut and played well.

After the win, the Wildcats were defeated by Wakefield 11-5 behind Shannon Horgan's two hit night including a home run and a triple, while they also lost to Stoneham 7-2 on Monday. The following night the Wildcats rebounded with a 7-4 win over the same Stoneham club during Senior Night. Benson had a big day with a big RBI triple for a much needed insurance run after the Spartans closed the gap to 5-4. Katherine McKenna had two hits including a single and a triple, Katy Goodwin had a RBI bunt single and made a nice catch in right field and Ashleigh Howland made two nice defensive plays at second base.

The Wildcats are now 5-13 on the season and ended its season on Wednesday with a doubleheader against Pope John High School of Everett.

Jamie Pote contributed to this report.

fourth quarters.

Playing shorthanded on a hot, sunny day, the Wildcat players all played multiple positions throughout the game, displaying great teamwork and unselfishness, getting outstanding contributions on both ends of the field from Joey Kullman, Michael Lee, Ashton Stalker, and Aydan Churchill.

The U11 White team wraps up its season on Sunday, June 1 at home against Wakefield.

Boys Under 11 Blue

Billerica 4, Wilmington 1

As the U11 team prepared for to play top notch Billerica this week the only thing that came to mind was hard work. Wilmington came into Sunday's game looking to shock the world and deliver Billerica's first loss of the season. It was a back and forth all day and unfortunately the Cats came up short with the final being 4-1.

In the first half the wildcats came out strong running all over the field getting numerous shots on net. Middle/Attack Jacob Martin, Keegan Gray, Jack Rooney, Tyler Cardello had numerous shots on net but Billerica's goalie was a man on mission saving everything in sight.

Billerica went up quick converting on two goals, but Goalie Cam Marzilli settled down and made some tough saves and not allowing Billerica to score their 3rd goal before halftime.

The defense of Jack Malloy, Joey Zuccola, Dennis McConologue and Nick Cella challenged the Billerica offense many times not making it easy to score. With a minute left in the first half Jacob Martins found Jack Rooney for the Cats only score of the game.

After a hard fought first half Wilmington the score was 2-1 and Wilmington was in reach of tying the game and moving ahead. Joey Zuccola played fantastic in the 2nd half between the pipes and got a lot of defensive help from Matt Vinal, Josh Brandenburg, Mason Glover, Jack Munro, Tristan Diemeco and Nick Vanella.

Billerica scored their third goal with five minutes left and with time winding down the Indians scored on a rocket from the top of the arch which put the game out of reach for the young Wildcat squad.

The U11 Blue team wraps up the regular season on Sunday, June 1st at home against Reading; then goes on to play in the MBYLL Jamboree on June 8th in Devens, MA

Girls Under 15 White

Great effort by all of the girls this weekend especially our two Goalies, Reagan Sweeney, and Megan Santry contributing goals for the win were Ashley Rooney, Julia Hill, Lauren D'Angelo, Danielle Silva, Grace Steed, Tia Woodford and Reagan Sweeney. Very strong offense and defense played by Caroline Rooney, Emma Rhind, Shailagh Scanlon, Hailey DeJesus, and Gianna Petrucci. Julia Ryan did a great job recovering the ball on many occasions.

Swim and Tennis Club ready to start another season

The Burlington Swim and Tennis Club is excited to kick-off its 57th season. Located off of Center Street, in the heart of Burlington, the BSTC offers a picturesque and private environment for families to enjoy the summer.

The BSTC is a non-profit volunteer operated swim/tennis/social club.

The BSTC offers its members the enjoyment of two pools providing opportunity for exercise and leisure. The "big pool" is a five lane, competition sized pool with life guards on duty. The kiddie pool is the perfect size for infants and children just learning to swim, to safely play and splash.

Next to the pools is a large playground with a sandbox area. The BSTC has three tennis courts, basketball hoop and a tetherball game. There is also a full service snack shack on-site with picnic tables and grills for the members to utilize.

The BSTC also offers a competitive swim team, which competes in the Minuteman Swim League and participates in five meets and a championship meet. Members of the swim team have the ability to practice five mornings a week, along with participation in the meets.

Swim team is free for members, and non-members may join the swim team only, at a cost of $200 per swimmer. The BSTC also offers a competitive Tennis team, which has matches with area clubs.

Members may also participate in group swim and tennis lessons for a very reasonable rate. Throughout the summer there are many family oriented activities including family day, campouts, movie nights and more.

For the older kids in the family, we offer several tween and teen nights throughout the season, with swimming, pizza, and music.

The BSTC is excited to announce many facility improvements for the 2014 season. The improvements include new chaise lounge chairs for the pool area, a new fence around the pool area, updates and improvements to the snack shack area, improvements to the clubhouse, as well as landscape upgrades.

New for the 2014 season is the addition of a Program Director. The BSTC is proud to welcome Chrissy Cerretani in this role! Cerretani is an accomplished tennis player and is Boston University's current NCAA Division I

Assistant Women's Tennis Coach, and is also World Tour Tennis Coach. The BSTC is extremely lucky to have the multi-talented Cerretani on board. She will coordinate many children and family oriented activities, throughout the summer.

In addition, she will help the tennis coaches implement a new and improved tennis program. Burlington residency is not a requirement for membership, as there are members from many area communities including: Billerica, Reading, North Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Woburn, Winchester, and Wilmington.

Family membership costs $799 for the season and week-end only or single membership costs $399 for the season.

Merrimack College junior Anthony Arcari raced to a fourth place finish at the MIT Invitational last Saturday afternoon in Cambridge. The 2011 Tewksbury High graduate sprinted to the finish in a time of 11.12 seconds.

Arcari also earned a fifth place finish in the 200 meters in a time of 22.59 seconds.

Former Tewksbury High star Lauren DiCredico was one of four Salem State graduating senior athletes who were honored at the Salem State University Senior Awards Banquet held at the Peabody Essex Museum last Wednesday evening.

DiCredico who played both softball and field hockey player at Salem State earned the prestigious Silver Key Award.

The Silver Key Award is presented to a member of the senior class who maintained a cumulative grade point average between 3.00 and 4.00, had significant involvement within the major area of academic concentration, and participation in co-curricular activities within the college community.

DiCredico, a Psychology major with a minor in Sports and Movement Science graduated Salem State with a 3.82 GPA. She is a member of the Psi Chi National Honor Society of Psychology and served as the secretary to this organization in 2012.

Villanova junior Leanne Tucker helped lead the Wildcats Women's Track team to the Big East championship back on May 11 on Villanova's home track. The 2011 Tewksbury High graduate was part of the Wildcats 4 x 800 meter relay team that not only took first place in their event, but also set a meet record of 8:33.36.

Even prior to her record breaking day on Sunday it had already been a big week for Tucker, who finished seventh overall in the 800 meters on Saturday in a personal best time of 2:12.70.

UMass Lowell junior Richard Kirby competed in the ECAC Championships this past weekend at Princeton University. The 2011 Tewksbury High graduate finished the 400 meters in a time of 54.77.

Another 2011 graduate of Tewksbury High, WPI's Andrea Caprio, also competed at the ECAC Championships. Competing in the javelin, Caprio had a top throw of 34.19 meters.

A handful of locals took part in various road races over the past week. At the Innovation 5K in Tyngsboro Tewksbury residents Mathew and Diane Grove finished 15th and 23rd at 23:47.8 and 25:45.8, respectively. At the Reading Lions Club 28th Journey for Sight 5K, Wilmington's Elayna Hebert was the lone local as she finished 42nd at 31:54.

At the 12th annual Run/Walk for the Club 5K in Wakefield, 11-year-old Owen Surette of Wilmington was third overall with a time of 20:17 and behind him included Tewksbury's Lorraine Sullivan, who was 38th at 33:22 and Wilmington's Maureen Parsons, who was 45th at 39:46.

At the Flying Shoes 5K in Lowell, Joe Andella was 8th overall at 21:38. He was followed by fellow Tewksbury residents Joseph Callahan (50th, 31:49), Grace Higgins (71st, 36:35), Ann Cormier (133rd, 58:56), Jennifer Higgins (134th, 59:15) and Colin Cormier (135th, 59:15), while Wilmington residents include Rachel and Susan Grabar, who were 20th and 24th at 26:06 and 26:15, respectively.

Walsh had strong Woburn ties

Benefit for Boston Fire Lt. Walsh to be held on Friday, May 30 at Woburn Elks Club

By GORDON VINCENT

WOBURN - Boston Fire Lt. Ed Walsh wasn't from Woburn, but he possessed many of the character traits that are prized by Woburnites - courage, loyalty, determination.

Walsh's friends from Woburn are holding a fundraising event for his family on Friday, May 30, at the Woburn Elks Lodge on Washington Street in East Woburn. Entertainment will be provided by two bands, "Lucky Ones," members of whom are from Woburn and knew Walsh, and Raindog.

Walsh, 43, and firefighter Michael Kennedy, 33, died on March 26 while battling a 9-alarm blaze on Beacon Street in the Back Bay section of Boston. He is survived by his wife and three children, all under 10-years-old. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Lt. Ed Walsh Family Fund.

"He was one of those guys who you could be really comfortable around," said

Woburn's Brian Donovan, who is organizing the event at the Elks. "There was no pretentiousness with him whatsoever. He's the kind of guy who you could sit down with and have a beer and talk sports. He really connected with people from Woburn, and his friends here wanted to do something to help."

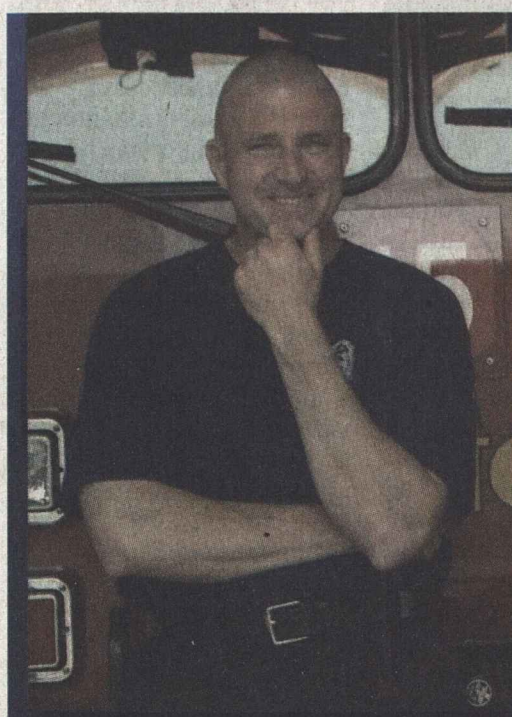

Walsh, who grew up in Watertown, and Donovan met in 1989, when they both attended Bridgewater State College (now a university), and lived in the same dormitory. They moved off-campus in a house together with many of the same friends who are helping with the fund-raising efforts for his family.

After college, Walsh, Donovan and other friends, primarily from Woburn, rented a house for a summer in Newport, R.I. Walsh also participated in the Woburn Softball League, playing for the Duran's team at Library Park.

"Ed made a lot of good friends from Woburn," Donovan said. "He used to always attend the annual fund-raiser for my brother Tim (the city Treasurer/Collector who was injured years ago in a car accident). There were a lot of people in the city who knew Ed and liked him a lot, because you couldn't help but like him."

According to Donovan, no one was surprised when Walsh became a firefighter. His father was a Watertown firefighter, as were his uncles. Walsh was with the Boston Fire Dept. for more than nine

by Paul Feely

"Godzilla" entertaining

"GODZILLA" is back in all his spine-rattling glory. This is the "Godzilla" fans have been waiting for. The movie delivers pure escapism for 2 hours without overstaying its welcome. The movie won't disappoint you.

"GODZILLA"
GRADE: ***

The good news is Godzilla is back, in all his spine-rattling glory.

Godzilla has remained a fascination among sci-fi lovers for more than 60 years, and because of his status as perhaps the longest-tenured (and tallest) popular figure in the genre, fans want to see their star get his props on the big screen.

The last time Hollywood tried doing a Godzilla film was Roland Emmerich's 1998 version, a colossal dud that had many people questioning whether Emmerich had ever seen a Godzilla film.

Fortunately, director Gareth Edwards and writers Max Borenstein and Dave Callahan fare much, much better in the new "Godzilla." They've managed to update the story while leaving enough of the legend intact to satisfy longtime fans.

Instead of being a product of the atomic age as in the original story, this time Big G was apparently a target of the atomic age (or were you wondering why we blew up so many nukes in the Pacific back in the 1950s?)

Bryan Cranston plays a scientist on a quest to expose what caused a nuclear meltdown (a big animal) at an Indian power plant in the '90s he finally decides to show off his new and improved fire breath, I nearly jumped out of my chair with a fist-pump.

While the monsters are computer-generated, the destroyed landscapes come via old school model-making. The combination makes for fantastic visuals, especially in 3D.

Lost in all the action is the question of whether Godzilla is a good guy and, if so, why. And what's his motive? But, really, who cares? As the Japanese scientist played by Ken Watanabe says, we shouldn't mess with nature. Just let the big brutes fight it out.

And fight it out it they do. This is the "Godzilla" fans have been waiting for, and any other big budget summer action flick will be hard-pressed to equal the fun.

If you're looking for a summer blockbuster that delivers pure escapism for 2 hours without overstaying its welcome, Godzilla won't disappoint you.

"NEIGHBORS"
GRADE: **

"Neighbors" may not be a particularly well-thought-out film, but it has some of the biggest sustained laughs of the summer.

The plot centers on a married couple, Mac and Katie (Seth Rogen and Rose Byrne, a pairing guaranteed to infuriate women who don't like Rogen). They've got a baby and a house with a mortgage - which means they're worried that they're turning into old people. Which they're not; it's simply the moment when you realize you're an adult, not a kid.

That becomes even clearer when the vacant house next door is sold - to a college fraternity, led by Zac Efron and Dave Franco. It immediately becomes Party Central, and suddenly Mac and Katie find themselves the oldsters yelling, "Hey, turn down that music!" at their younger neighbors. While they try to ingratiate themselves as adults who are hip to the young people, it quickly turns into all-out war.

The young couple starts out by making a genuine effort at neighborliness, but Mac - like so many Rogen characters - is a man whose heart might be in the right place but who also is prone to outbreaks of downright terrible judgment. So that earnest effort to make nice with the boys of Delta Psi Beta? It quickly turns into a feud that escalates to ridiculous, even felonious, proportions, to the detriment of all parties involved - but to audiences' general amusement.

Along the way, there's tons of pot-smoking, beer-swilling, nudity and other type of frat-boy behavior - including scenes I won't even attempt to describe in a family publication such as this. "Neighbors" is not, to put it another way, a movie for the easily offended.

There are few consequences (including the fact that no one else in this residential neighborhood of closely set houses seems to be bothered by the fraternity's outrageous antics) for either side.

This Sunday 9th annual Horn Pond Lantern Walk

The ninth annual Horn Pond Memorial Lantern Walk, "Soul Lantern", will be held on Sunday, May 25 at 7 p.m. Gather at the Lake Avenue pump house parking area in Woburn.

Walk together and remember the lives and love of friends, classmates, and family who have passed on as participants carry lanterns around this beautiful pond once called Lake Innitow by the local native American population.

"Soul Lanterns" can be made by simply cutting the top off and decorating an empty 2 liter soda bottle, fashioning a handle and inserting a candle. There will be some lanterns available for a donation the night of the event.

All proceeds go to the Friends of Mary Cummings Park, a non-profit group working to protect local parklands.

"CRIMINAL HEARTS" AT QP NOW THROUGH MAY 31

The quirky, humorous psychological crime story "Criminal Hearts," by Jane Martin, is playing at The Quannapowitt Players of Reading, 55 Hopkins Street, now through May 31 on weekends.

A street-savvy con artist breaks into a luxury apartment one night, only to find that every item of value and every last scrap of furniture is gone. All that remains is a mattress, some clothes and a frightened woman who has been cleaned out by her egotistical and bitter husband.

A darkly funny play that is equal parts a clash of cultures and a battle of the sexes, "Criminal Hearts" is a challenging comedy that puts its female characters front and center and dares the audience to rethink what it knows about the role of women in an ever-changing society.

For reservations call 781-942-2212 or www.qptheater.com.

REST...LESS, MARCH FORTH, PARK PLACES

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

NOT TO NAME NAMES BUT... (WOBURN)

Take a lesson, Wakefield. Please.

"After adding seven conditions, the City Council's Special Permits Committee ... endorsed a petition for a new building with concessions and restrooms at Gonsalves Park in West Woburn," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The conditions are as follows: no dumpster on-site; the area must be kept clean; a water meter must be attached to the water service line for the building; lighting must be directed away from abutters; the building must be screened with arborvitae trees; the restrooms are only open when recreational activities are being held; the building must be 'stick built,' and not made of blocks.

The Woburn Commission

for Handicapped & Disabled Citizens...also requested a copy of the plans for the building. The full council was expected to vote on the special permit application when it next met. (See the local edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle" for an immediate update.

"The bathrooms/concession stand facility is a joint effort between the city and Woburn Little League, which is seeking to accommodate the increased participation in its softball program, and perhaps apply to host next year's state softball tournament," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

The building will be located between the two softball diamonds on the westerly side of the park, which is off South Bedford Street...After hours, the lighting will be triggered by motion detectors, and there will be security cameras on-site. If the permit is approved quickly, construction could begin in July, after the town league season ends, and perhaps be completed by September.

TIME TO STEP UP (STONEHAM)

"The Stoneham Memorial Day Parade Committee is in need of Parade Day volunteers to help with the parade line up and other tasks," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"We would ask any volunteer to be able to attend the final parade meeting on Wed, May 21, 2014 and be available at 8:30am on Parade Day. Please contact us if you are able to assist.

"All veterans are invited to join in the line of march. Uniforms are not required. Civilian clothes which respect the dignity of the occasion (dark slack, white dress shirt, and hat that identifies your branch of the service or veterans organization are appropriate.) Transportation will be provided for those who wish to participate, but feel they are not capable of marching along. If you will need transportation, please contact the parade committee in advance, so provision can be made.

For further information please contact Chairman Maureen Buckley at 781-572-2068 (StonehamMDPCCommittee@gmail.com) or Veterans Agent Jim Devlin at 781-279-2664 (jdevlin@ci.stoneham.ma.us).

The parade route is as follows: Departs Elm Street at 10:00am, traveling down Main Street to Montvale Ave., where it stops for a brief ceremony in the Veterans Circle of Lindenwood Cemetery. The parade continues back up Montvale Ave. to Main Street towards Stoneham Center, then onto Central Street where it ends at Town Hall. A final ceremony at the Town Hall takes place following the parade.

For questions, please contact Parade Chairman Maureen Buckley 781-572-2068 StonehamMDPCCommittee@gmail.com or Veterans Agent Jim Devlin at 781-279-2664 (jdevlin@ci.stoneham.ma.us)

'SPARSE' BUT MOSTLY UNANIMOUS(TEWKSBURY)

"Part one of the Tewksbury Town Meeting concluded about an hour and a half after it opened at 8 p.m.," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"Attendance was sparse.

According to Kathleen

Brothers, only 148 voters and 19 visitors attended.

"Most articles passed without discussion, and they did so unanimously. Generating the most interest of the night were articles relative to the school department budget and parks restoration...

"Article 14 generated the most discussion. It asked the town to appropriate $70,000 for the rehabilitation of Wamesit Park and $50,000 for the rehabilitation of Muster Park. Both would come from community preservation funds and not from the general fund..."

MIDDLESEX EAST WEEKLY TRIVIA:

What sport, after a 112-year hiatus (last competition was St. Louis in 1904), has been reinstated for the 2016 Summer Olympic Games?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

STONEHILL COLLEGE SOPHOMORE EMMA ZAMIEROWSKI (WINCHESTER, MASSACHUSETTS/WINCHESTER) earned the seventh national championship in school history and fourth in equestrian to highlight a pair of top three finishes for the equestrian program at the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) National Championships, hosted by Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex.

Zamierowski wins the program's third individual title, by winning the individual walk-trot equitation blue ribbon on Friday. Holly Attuso from Louisiana State University is reserve champion, while Erin Pesa from Ohio State University finished third. Zamierowski's national championship is the first for the program since the team won the 2003 Hunter Seat Championship and first individual title since Kelly McDonald earned a blue ribbon for novice equitation over fences in 1997.

A two out single by freshman Ian Strom (Hopedale, Mass.) in the bottom of the ninth lifted the River Hawks to 3-2 win over Hartford University at LeLachur Park in Lowell, Mass.

UMass Lowell, with the victory, finishes off its first season of America East Conference play with a 10-10 record, and improves to 19-20 overall. Hartford, in a battle with Stony Brook for first place, fell to 29-18 / 15-5, a game behind the Seawolves.

"Being Senior Day, Mac Connor Day, Mother's Day to come out with a win like that is pretty special win," said UMass Lowell Head Coach Ken Harring. "Christian Lavoie pitched his butt off and we got some timely hits."

The River Hawks scored in the first to grab a 1-0 lead.

Hartford tied the game in top of the fourth when the Hawks' top hitter, James Alfonso hit his fifth home run of the season off the right field score board to knot the score at one. That was the Hawks second homerun of the weekend.

In the bottom of the seventh the River Hawks managed to retake the lead after back-to back wild pitches by Hawk's starter Kyle Gauthier.

SENIOR NICK BOUTOURES (WILMINGTON, MASS.) came in the ninth inning to try to close the door, but the Hawks had some two out magic left in their bats. Hartford scored 13 of its 15 runs this weekend with two outs. First baseman Brady Sheetz hit 0-1 pitch to right center to score Ryan Lukach, who reached on a walk and moved into scoring position at second with a stolen base, to tie the game at two.

Mendick led off the ninth getting hit by a pitch, but two quick outs later and it looked as though the game was going to extra innings. Mendick, then, stole second without a throw. Strom followed with a dying quail to down the line in short right. The ball dropped into a no-man's land between three Hartford fielders, bloom single to score Mendick from second; a Mother's Day walk-off win sending the River Hawk faithful home with a dramatic 3-2 win.

Boutoures picked up his first win of the season.

Need some help with the trivia question? It's not beer pong.

The UMass Lowell men's track and field team turned in a series of solid performances at the New England Outdoor Championships, at the Jerry Gravel Track Facility, at Westfield State College.

"We were trying to put together a series of good performances and we did that," said UMass Lowell Track and Field Head Coach Gary Gardner. "Things that didn't go well last weekend did this weekend. I feel like we're on the right track."

SENIOR RICHARD KIRBY (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) qualified for the IC4A Championships next weekend with a strong showing in the 400 meter hurdles. Kirby crossed the finish line in a time of 53.65 good enough for a fifth place finish.

"He's really worked hard, and now he's reaping the rewards," said Gardner. "We're really proud of him."

UMass Lowell senior Candace Greene (Annapolis, Md.) wrapped up her collegiate career with a second place finish in the shot put at the New England Outdoor Championships, at the Jerry Gravel Track Facility, at Westfield State College.

Greene, who threw the shot 45-feet 10½-inches, has chosen to forgo the IC4A championships next weekend to take part in the UMass Lowell commencement ceremonies.

SENIOR KARIE JUDGE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) had a solid and rather busy day. Judge finished eighth in the 1,500 meters in a time of four-minutes 37.67-seconds. Forty-five minutes later she was back on the track in the 800 meters and turned in a personal best time of 2:16.94. It earned her a 16th place finish.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Golf.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, 531 Main Street, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

Anyone who cannot attend the fund-raiser at the Elks can donate directly to the Lt. Ed Walsh Family Fund at www.gofundme.com/84ntww.

"One of the great things about Woburn people is they always respond when someone needs help," Donovan said. "Ed had a lot of friends in Woburn, and we know they're going to come out and help his family in their time of need."

Raindog, which will headline the event at the Elks, includes guitarist Jamie Carroll, who worked with Ed's cousin Kevin, who is currently a firefighter in the town of Braintree. Both bands will generously donate their time.

"They're both good bands and people will enjoy listening to them," Donovan said. "They're very excited about helping out."

The event will start at 7 p.m. A $20 donation ties, and information about this historic yacht club will be available. Founded in 1895, QYC is one of, if not the oldest inland yacht club in the country.

You do not need to be a member of QYC to take advantage of the youth or adult sailing lessons. However, there are many benefits to becoming a member, including: reduced fees for lessons; a place to moor your boat; year round social activities; and, an exciting place to sail all season long in a convenient location.

QYC is proud to once again offer its popular Youth Sailing Program, a registered camp with the Town of Wakefield's Board of Health.

The sailing program enrolls students starting at 8 years of age and entering third grade through high school. This is a fun way to learn to sail or to improve sailing skills. We also offer a racing program and participate in several regattas in Massachusetts.

Camp hours are from 9AM to 4PM Monday through Friday, with four sessions available: Session I: 6/23-7/3; Session II: 7/7-7/18; Session III: 7/21-8/1; Session IV: 8/5-8/15. The Sailing Program cost $555.00 for Session I and $615 for Sessions II-IV. The Racing Program is a 4 week program that takes place during sessions I and II ($1205) or sessions III and IV ($1265). Registration forms and a $100.00 deposit are now being accepted. Forms can be downloaded at www.sailqyc.com.

For further information call the Youth Sailing phone number at (339) 203-9207. As noted above, QYC members get a reduced rate.

Sailing on Lake Quannapowitt is challenging due to ever changing winds caused by the shape of the lake and the buildings surrounding the water. In recent years, several of our youth sailing alumni have participated in Olympic-class sailing events.

Whether you are an experienced sailor or are a newcomer to this sport, QYC offers a friendly and supportive environment for both individuals and families.

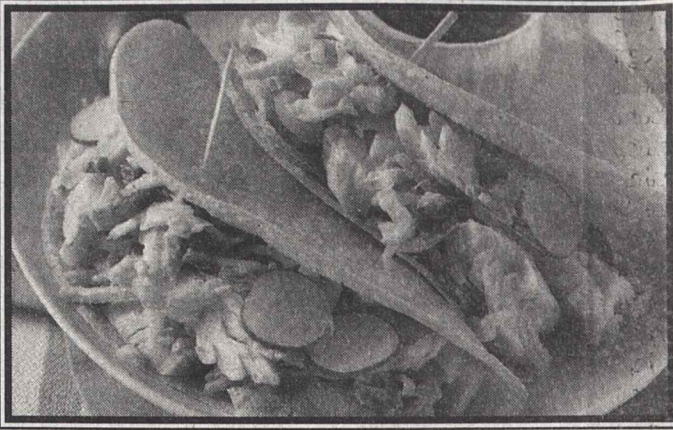

For more information about QYC, call (339) 203-9201, email info@sailqyc.com, or visit www.sailqyc.com.

Quick Grilled Fish Tacos

Nothing fishy going on here! Grill the fish and tortillas for these tasty tacos, and dinner's done in 30 minutes.

Directions

1. Heat gas or charcoal grill. Cut 1 (18x12-inch) sheet of heavy-duty foil; spray with cooking spray. Sprinkle both sides of fish fillets with 2 teaspoons of the seasoning mix. Place fish on center of foil sheet. Bring up 2 sides of foil so edges meet. Seal edges, making tight 1/2-inch fold; fold again, allowing space for heat circulation and expansion. Fold other sides to seal.

2. Place packet on grill over high heat. Cover grill; cook about 10 minutes, rotating packet 1/2 turn after 5 minutes, until fish flakes easily with fork. Let cool slightly; cut into bite-size chunks.

3. Meanwhile, in large bowl, mix dressing and remaining 4 teaspoons seasoning mix. Add coleslaw mix and chile; toss to coat. Let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, wrap stack of tortillas in sheet of foil; place on coolest part of grill 5 to 10 minutes, turning occasionally, until steaming.

4. To serve, spoon about 1/4 cup fish chunks and 1/4 cup coleslaw mixture onto each tortilla; top with 2 tablespoons radishes. Fold tortillas around filling. Serve with pepper sauce and tomatillo salsa.

EXPERT TIPS

When chopping the jalapeño chile, wear gloves to prevent skin irritation from the oils. To warm tortillas in the microwave: Place a stack of tortillas between slightly dampened microwavable paper towels; microwave on High about 45 seconds or until warm.

Denaro Chiropractic celebrates anniversary

Dr. Abbey Denaro is proud to announce the one year anniversary of her Chiropractic practice, Denaro Chiropractic, located at 286 Park St. in North Reading. Since opening at this location one year ago, Dr. Denaro has helped many local residents regain the kind of lifestyle they want and deserve and are enjoying it without pain.

Dr. Denaro helps people of all ages and she specializes in pregnancy and pediatric care. She is certified in the Webster Technique for pregnancy, which is effective for relieving pain, reducing labor time, and has been shown to prevent the need for c-sections. She has also completed post-graduate courses in pediatric chiropractic care. Most parents bring in their children for conditions like ear infections, colic, sleep and behavioral problems, and scoliosis.

"It has been a privilege to be a part of this community and help create better health", says Dr. Denaro. "This past year has exceeded my expectations and I am honored to have gained the trust of many wonderful families from the local area and those who travel from the Boston area and New Hampshire, as well."

Besides growing her practice, Dr. Denaro has stayed active at her alma mater, UMass Lowell. She is now an Advisory Board Member for the College of Health Sciences and the Department of Physical Therapy. As a Board Member, she works with professors and respected health professionals throughout New England to enhance the University's curriculum, internship and job opportunities, and create a better environment for students. She has also been invited back as a guest lecturer for Exercise Physiology classes and will be the guest speaker at the Women's Leadership Graduation Ceremony this month.

In order to celebrate this milestone, Dr. Denaro is inviting everyone to a Community Open House. This will be held at her office and will highlight local artists, wine makers, and of course Chiropractic. "Come see what our amazing patients have created! Paintings, professional photographs, pottery, and jewelry will be showcased and some will be for sale." Free food, prizes, and chiropractic screenings will be available as well.

Fun ways to be a fit family

Obesity is a global epidemic affecting people of all ages. According to The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than one-third of Americans are considered obese, while Statistics Canada notes about 25 percent of Canadians are obese. Being overweight or obese has been linked to cardiovascular disease, diabetes and some forms of cancer, and children who are overweight are likely to be overweight or obese adults.

While eating a diet that is low in fat and high in whole-grain fiber, vegetables and lean proteins is important, exercise remains one of the key factors in maintaining a healthy weight. However, many adults and children simply do not get enough exercise during the day. An active lifestyle is often hampered by the prevalence of digital devices or sedentary jobs that encourage more screen time than fitness time. But there are ways for the entire family to get fit. Exercising together is not just a great way for families to get healthy, but also a great opportunity to spend time, together. The following are a handful of ways families can work together to incorporate more exercise into their daily lives.

* Tackle chores. Yes, tasks around the house can count as exercise. Working together not only gets you moving but also cuts down on the time it takes to tackle tasks around the house. Mowing the lawn, vacuuming the rugs, sweeping the floor – all of these activities can get the heart pumping. Make it fun by setting chores to music or competing against one another to see who gets their task done first or the best.

* Compete in the pool. Swimming is a low-impact activity that works many muscles in the body. Taking a dip in the pool can be both relaxing and beneficial to your health. Compete with family members to make the most of the time spent in the water. Host relay swimming races, see how long each member of the family can tread water or create any other competitions that keep everyone in the pool moving.

* Create an outdoor obstacle course. Set up a series of obstacles in your yard and host your own triathlon. You can jump through tires, climb through tubes and scale trees. Make it fun by having adults try to ride tricycles or pair up an adult with a child for sack races. The opportunities for fun are only hampered by your imagination.

* Go for family bicycle rides. Traverse your neighborhood or blaze new trails by riding bikes together. Young children can be strapped into trailers that are pulled behind the bike or ride in seats attached to the bike itself. This gives everyone a chance to enjoy the great outdoors and hone their cycling skills.

* Go hiking. Hiking is another fun family activity that also happens to make for great exercise. Choose a trail that may not be level and push everyone's endurance to the test.

* Stroll the beach. Walking or running on sand offers more resistance than walking on pavement. Take a stroll at the seaside. Break up the walk by collecting shells or stopping by the water to observe marine wildlife.

* Hit the dance floor. If you've been invited to a wedding or a Sweet 16 party, cut a rug and take advantage of the DJ and dance floor. When enjoying yourselves, you probably won't even realize how much you're exercising.

glass panes near the top let in still more light while allowing insiders to see who is outside. The stairway's half wall increases the foyer's sense of expansiveness.

Wide windows fill most of the rear wall, in the naturally bright combination living room/dining room straight ahead of the foyer. The widest of these extends almost to the gas fireplace. A sliding glass door on the left slides open to offer easy access to the rear covered deck.

The kitchen is open to the dining room, separated only by a peninsular counter. A gently curved eating bar rims the counter on the dining room side. The Gatsby's kitchen is rich in both counter and storage space, including a large walk-in pantry. Garage access, a utility room, powder room, and storage closet are also nearby.

The owners' suite fills out the remainder of the ground floor. Amenities include: a large corner shower, two lavatories, a private toilet, and a good-sized walk-in closet.
